Genealogy

A short course on Genealogy will be offered by the Social Science program beginning April 2, 1977.

The course is for beginners as well as those who have done work in genealogy and will introduce to the students the many sources and records available. Helpful hints, suggestions and addresses, explanations and assistance in using and finding the kind of sources needed, how to and where to do research in European countries, and much more will be presented.

Mr. John W. Heisey, a graduate of the University of Maryland and presently a graduate student at Penn State, will be the course instructor. Mr. Heisey is a former librarian and director of research at the Historical Society of York County and has served as an instructor of police science, local history and advanced genealogy at York College of Pa. He is the author of a Heisey family history, a booklet on "York County in the American Revolution," and a soon-to-be-published book on the professional coverlet weavers of nineteenth century America.

The course will be held April 2 to June 4, 1977 from 10 A.M. to 12 noon on campus. The fee for the course is $20 which includes all educational materials.

Tarnhelm

All Capitol Campus students and faculty are encouraged to submit works for publication in the Tarnhelm, Capitol's literary magazine scheduled to appear early in May.

Short works of fiction, plays, essays, poetry, photography, cartoons, and line drawings will all be considered, and may be deposited in the Tarnhelm container, Rm. W-161.

Early submission is important since the deadline for accepting new works will be April 1, 1977. The names of authors and artists will be kept confidential, and all works will be evaluated anonymously by the Tarnhelm editorial staff.

Tarnhelm staff include:

- Mona Davis
- Greg Hall
- Walt Konetsco
- Susan McInerney
- Jenine Rannels
- Margery Sanford

For further information contact any of the staff members, or call Marge Sanford-533-5226.

Union

At 2:00 P.M. on Monday, March 14, the Faculty Council will sponsor a forum on Collective Bargaining for those faculty members eligible to vote in the election to be held at the end of March. The session will be held in the auditorium, and will include presentations and a question and answer period involving local representatives of PSEA, AAUP, and the Penn State Independent Faculty (no agent). A representative of the Pennsylvania Labor Relations board will also be available to respond to questions about the election.

Graduation

Capitol Campus will hold its winter term commencement ceremonies on Sun., March 20 at 2:00 P.M. at the Middletown Area High School.

Dr. Robert E. McDermott, provost of Capitol Campus, will preside over the ceremonies. Assisting him in the conferring of degrees will be Dr. George D. Wolf, Dean of Faculty; Mr. Harry R. Ulrich, a member of the Board of Trustees; and Dr. Benjamin Howell, Associate Dean of the graduate school. The invocation and benediction will be given by Father William Richardson, Catholic, Campus Minister.

Academic degrees will be awarded to 108 students. A total of 84 students will receive bachelor degrees; 24 students will receive master degrees. The bachelor degrees will be awarded in business administration, elementary education, humanities, social science, engineering technology, and mathematical sciences. Master's degrees will be awarded in American studies, administration, humanities, education, engineering science, public administration, regional planning and psychosocial science.

The commencement exercises mark the end of winter term. Spring term classes will begin Mon., March 28, 1977.

Bus 361

On Wednesday, March 2, the students of BUS 361, "Operations Management," toured the Carlisle mill of C. H. Masland & Sons, Inc., one of the oldest carpet manufacturers in America. The students met in the firm's boardroom for a question-and-answer session with three top executives: Robert W. Morris, Vice President for Manufacturing; Beryl C. Gardner, Secretary Treasurer; and William T. Gordon, Director of Public Relations.

During the tour, the students saw many phases of the operation as they traced the flow of the product from raw materials through processing to finished goods. Many of the theories and academic material from their Business Administration courses suddenly "came to life."

Ralph C. Aymin, Instructor of Management, presented a framed certificate of appreciation signed by Provost McDermott to Mr. Gordon, who was the official tour host. Arrangements for the field trip were coordinated through ACES, Americans for a Competitive Enterprise System.

Bus 361 Again

On Friday, March 4, the students of BUS 361, "Operations Management," were addressed by Paul Droder, Superintendent of Manufacturing Services of the PPG Industries, Inc., plant located south of Carlisle. Mr. Droder talked about the industry and about his firm in general before detailing operations at the Carlisle plant, one of the world's largest and most modern plants designed exclusively for the production of float glass.

Ralph C. Aymin, Instructor of Management, presented Mr. Droder with a framed certificate of appreciation signed by Provost McDermott. Arrangements for Mr. Droder's presentation were coordinated through ACES, Americans for a Competitive Enterprise System.

WNDR

As of Spring Term 1977 WZAP becomes WNDR. Besides changing our call letters, new programs will be added like "shortcake", a one hour Thursday night special of country pickin' tunes. More specials will be announced. Be sure to listen our way - the WNDR way!

Jani Neidinger, R.D. #1, Middletown gave us the new call letters WNDR
