

CAPITOL CAMPUS READER

Vol. 6 No. 20

Capitol Campus

Penn State University

April 7, 1977

SGA Presidential Candidate Runs Unopposed

By Young Inyang

Next Tuesday (April 12) is election day and casino night on campus according to S.G.A. President Cliff Eshbach and Robin Platts of the Public Information Office.

Besides the election of S.G.A. officers Eshbach said that a faculty member will also be selected for the James Jordan Award.

The elections, he said will be held by the round table from 8:00 a.m. till 8:00 p.m.

Submission of petitions will close Friday the 8th, according to the Vice President, Ray Martin.

So far the candidate for president, Joe Mahar, is running unopposed. Stephen L. Nailor and Young Inyang are running for the vice presidency. Nellie Jiwani is the lone contender for secretary while Larry Ranieri and Sheilla Deal will contest for the treasury.

The James Jordan Memorial Award is presented to one faculty member for outstanding dedication and achievement in education.

The late Mr. Jordan was a Humanities professor at Capitol Campus. He died at age 43 in a boating accident.

To help voters during the elections,

Eshbach said there will be a faculty directory in the poll area. The name of the winner he added, will be sent to a selection committee for the final decision.

According to Ray Martin a proposal to ammend Article XVII (18) of the constitution is being left for the next cabinet.

Article 18 defines how the S.G.A. and the other students organizations spend money. It has been a source of conflict between the S.G.A. and other organizations.

To avoid possible unfair voting practices, Eshbach announced that there will be a student roster in the polling area, and that all voters will be required to show their I.D. cards.

From the Public Information Office Robin Platts said that "a casino night will be held Tuesday, April 12, at 8:00 P.M." in the Student Center. She says "one dollar at the door will buy you a $1,000.00," and that there will be music, alcoholic and non alcoholic beverages, and prizes.

She invites everyone to "come to casino night and have a great time." All proceeds according to her benefit the Spring concert.

Between 80 And 90 A Day To Some It's Waste, To Others

By Ed Perrene

The "Heart Screening Program", sponsored by the American Heart Association and the Campus Health Service, will conclude its stay at Capitol Campus today, after examining more than 900 people.

The screenings were held last week, on March 30 and 31, and this week, on April 6 and 7. They were open, free of charge, to any member of the student body, faculty, or staff. Today's screening was also available to employees of the Fruehauf Corporation.

The examination consisted of a height, weight and blood pressure check, a blood test for blood cholesterol and sugar, and an electrocardiogram.

According to Mrs. Jean Kresge, School Nurse, the same type of program, sponsored by the State Health Center, was conducted here last year, but was dropped this year in favor of the Heart Association's program, because the State's examination did not include the cholesterol test.

All of the people who administered the screening were volunteers: either those who worked for the Heart Association and did the actual testing, or students, who assisted the patients in filling out the necessary forms.

According to Mrs. Kresge, the exact number of people who took advantage of this free testing service will not be known until after the program's conclusion today. She said, however, that between 80 and 90 people were registered to be examined on each of the program's four days.

To Some It's Waste, To Others It's Bread And Butter

The Water Resources Engineering Technology (WRET) Program here at Capitol offers students an opportunity to both create a better environment and work in a good paying job. Persons in the engineering profession have been blamed for pollution of the environment, so many times that it is a good feeling for the WRET people to be able to help solve these problems with their engineering skills.

The WRET Program title has been a misnomer, in the past, since the technical connotation of water resources is hydrology, hydraulics, runoff, dams, reservoirs and water supply.

The emphasis of our student's training has been in water and wastewater treatment. The placement of the students after graduation is primarily in the water pollution control field, mainly due to the large amount of government funding for wastewater treatment plant construction. This

See Page 2

Unionization? Not Quite

By Brian McDonough

Less than 600 votes made faculty unionization a non-issue for Penn State. The election held on March 30 and 31 turned out 93 per cent of all eligible voters according to University Public Information.

The percentage of Commonwealth Campus's faculty tallied 95 percent (including Capitol Campus), and 92 percent of University Park faculty voted in the election.

Figures released by the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board showed 1,712 voted for no representation, 642 voted for PSUPA representation, and 500 voted for AAUP representation.

According to Dr. Eisenstein, who is affiliated with the Capitol Campus chapter of the PSUPA/PSEA, it was the big vote at University Park which caused the defeat for union representation.

Weekend

Weather

It will be partly cloudy over the weekend, which also means it'll be partly sunny, though the parts thereof we can't be precise with. Temperatures will be below normal, with the highs in the 40's Friday and Saturday and 50's on Sunday. The lows will be in the teen's and 20's. Eggs, rabbits and new clothes are also expected Sunday.

Photo by: Wm. Kane