

FILE

CAPITOL CAMPUS READER

Vol. 6 No. 26    Capitol Campus    Penn State University    May, 26, 1977

Photo by: Don Shoemaker

Blame it on these folks: left to right, John "Joint Effort" Kollar, Ed "Juan Julio" Perrone, Rob "Ragweed" Fisher, Young "Idi" Inyang, Wm. Kane Grace "GMC" Cole, Doug "George Doug" George, Ed "The Thread" McKeown, Carol "Rites of Spring" Andress, Brian "I'll drink to that" McDonough. Not pictured Tim Adams and Greg Hall.

Ideal Weather Makes Concert A Success

By Wm. Kane

From greasers fighting with knives pulled to mothers bouncing their babies in time to the music, there was a little bit of everything to be seen at last weekends Spring Concert. The usual crowd was there. Everybody. Observant eyes could catch, believe it or not, some faculty members walking around incognito, an administrator, and even a few of the staff of the Capitol Campus.

This was by no means the limit to the scope of the crowd. As is usually the case with a big outdoor party, especially one with a tradition behind it, people came from all of the surrounding communities. Guests were in abundance. Towards the middle of the day it seemed most populated, at say 2:30 or so.

Things to do: listen to the music of course; get burnt, by the sun that is; frisbee; football; beer, wine, whiskey, gin, vodka, rum, and other alternative methods of blurring perceptions; dancing; there was a touch of life in all its forms by the time the day was over. In keeping with the tradition explaining what Officer James H. Paul was up to; among others things as he was walking through the frisbee arena directly below the stage, the alert chief found himself prey to the onslaught of a well aimed frisbee approaching his head. He caught it! Also, as the year 76 turned into 77, so did the old Good People Productions' shirts turn to new ones by blotching out the 76 with a sorry excuse for, presumably, a star. So the final product read 19 (sorry excuse for a star) 77. A "super" job was done by Mike

Pavlishin who introduced the bands, roused the crowd, and read notices of warning for the people who couldn't handle it. Though we never did hear the Cheech and Chong joke as was promised. The quite large crowd, even up to the end, were sorry to see things end so soon. Many expressed recommendations for continuing the festivities into the night. All in all the concert/party came off well thanks to the hours of preparation by all those mentioned in the letter on page two. There were some problems though as the hot temperatures caused several beer drinkers to pass out, according to Nurse Petrosino, who was there helping out along with Nurse Kresge for over 11 hours. Nurse Petrosino also said problems of poison ivy and scratched bodies were dealt with due to people climbing fences to recapture lost frisbees.

See Page 4

Weekend Weather

The extended weather forecast for Harrisburg and the surrounding areas for the period of Friday through Sunday calls for a gradual warming trend throughout these three days with the highs on Friday in the mid 70's and the lows in the upper 50's. Saturday will be a little warmer and Sunday will be warmer yet, with the highs in the upper 80's and the lows in the mid 60's.