What Do You Think Of Capitol Campus?

SIX BILLION IS A LOT OF PEOPLE.

It is the number who will be living on the Earth by the year 2000.

Most of them will not have enough to eat. Most will be suffering from shortages of other essentials of life...

but there will be plenty of nuclear bombs-enough to kill all six billion twelve times over.

These people will not be strangers...

THEY WILL BE YOU AND YOUR CHILDREN.

Governments that claim they cannot afford to eliminate poverty, rebuild cities, solve problems of unemployment, health and education, are already using untold billions for "defense" in an arms race that is likely to destroy us all.

We think it is time to change these priorities.

If you agree, you can help.

The Capitol Campus Reader is the school newspaper of Penn State's Capitol Campus. It is published weekly on Thursday by the students who attend this school. Final Deadline is on Tuesday at 12 p.m.

Peter Olayiwola Senior Senator Business Administration

Capitol Campus is a unique college with unique problems, requiring unique solutions. We all have to work together to solve these problems. The students must be willing to speak out and make realistic suggestions and criticism, and the Administration must be willing to see issues from the students's point of view and then make the necessary concessions. It's time we do away with unnecessary red tapes!

Craig Hocker SGA President

Capitol Campus is a good school with a good faculty. The potential for a quality education is here; however, it won't materialize to its fullest extent until people realize that the campus community must communicate among its different factions.

Scott Summers Junior

The quality of education at C.C. is certainly equal to, if not superior to, that of U-Park. However, the quality of the social activities are at sub-levels to their potential.

Joe Mahar Former SGA President

I think that the faculty and administration have no conception of their product or who their customers are.

What Do You Say?

On Thursday, May 25, the last issue of the C.C. Reader for this academic year will be printed. We, the staff of the Reader, would like to devote an entire Perspectives page for you, the student body, and especially the graduating seniors, to voice your opinion of Capitol Campus, the administration, the faculty, the staff, organizations, or any issues relating to the campus in

A type, doubled-spaced copy of your opinion would be appreciated, but handwritten copies will be accepted if legible.

You may submit your letter in the C.C. Reader mailbox in the SGA office, or drop it off at the Reader office in W129 before noon, TUESDAY May 23. Please limit your letters to about 300 words so we can print as many as possible.

Do with your friends as you do with your books. Have them where you can find them, but seldom use them.

SGA News

Since the previous publication of the C.C.Reader the SGA has held two meetings. Income for these past weeks was 514.00

There has been a number of student concerns brought to the attention of the SGA. Among these are: prices in the bookstore; the student center not being open when it is scheduled to be; the parking fee and the way parking tickets are handled. All are being looked into.

Craig Hocker, SGA President, gave a report on the COBSGA meeting anu on President Oswald's speech. President Oswald will be at Capitol Campus on May 10, while here he will meet with the SGA Officers.

The action taken by the SGA inthe past weeks are as follows:

George Roberts was reinstated as Jr. Senator-at-large. George had been on a medical leave of absence.

Charlie Lament was voted in as Senior El. Ed. Senator.

Randy Goshert was approved as the new Social Committee Chairperson.

NAIA was voted down by SGA. (NAIA carried through) in the Faculty Council)

Greg Groover was approved for Senior Senator at large. gots took a particular to deal

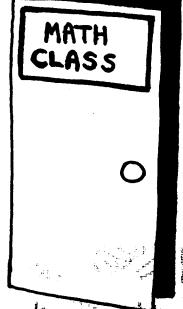

SGA approved a motion to back the proposal of taking Capitol Campus off the diploma.

SGA adopted a philosophy to guide it through the coming year.(it will be published in another article).

All SGA office hours have been posted in the SGA office. So if you would like to talk with a representative stop in and see when they are around.
