Thousands of people soothed by music, booze and grass enjoyed the sunny afternoon and evening at the 1978 Capitol Campus Spring Concert.

Tarnhelm Plans Reception

The 1978 edition of Tarnhelm will be available free-of-charge on Thursday, June 1st, and will be distributed at a reception to be held in the Gallery Lounge from 12-4 p.m. The reception of the annual literary publication will mark its sixth year as "the creative voice of Capitol Campus."

The Gallery Lounge reception will serve both to honor the contributors and to formally present Tarnhelm to the campus community. All students, faculty, and administrative staff are cordially invited to attend. Refreshments will be served, and the Tarnhelm staff will be in attendance.

Tarnhelm's 1978 issue includes prose stories by Eleanor Ebersole, Linda Lingle, and Joseph Taylor. Represented poets include Bob Buckingham, Marilyn Carmen, Kande Charsha, Susan Evans, Tom Gerlander, Theodora Graham, Tony Guida, Gregory Hall, Peg Hartzell, Jane Johnson, Randy Myers, and Allan Ward.

There are a limited number of copies, and they will be distributed first come, first served. Copies not distributed at the Thursday reception will be available in the Humanities office, W-161, until the supply is exhausted.

Printing of this year's Tarnhelm was done at Benson/Kitty Printers of Harrisburg. The finished publication represents a year-long process of much planning, evaluation, work, and dedication from the Tarnhelm staff--Gregory Hall, John Flanagan, Kevin Stuessy, Randy Myers, Joseph Taylor, and Sue McInerney.
