

Perspectives

Anyone Sheepy?

Judging from the paltry return from the Concert Survey Poll, one may assume that student's are content with their weekly Keggars for entertainment and don't mind being told what to do.

College, for some, is a place where minds are stimulated and the type of people one expects to find are imaginative and can use their initiative. Breaking away from time clocks, the assembly line and generally the Archie Bunker stereotypes is one reason to come to college. This breed of human being resents being told to drink coffee on his coffee break if he prefers tea, and his conversation isn't limited to knowing all the latest football statistics.

"Man does not live by bread alone," says the old adage. This is not true for some at Capitol Campus, as students religiously make Tuesday nights synonymous with Keggars. "Man lives by Keggars alone" would be appropriate for them.

Many regulars pile into the student center on "Keggars" as if a remote control was homing them in. No doubt, occasionally it's nice to get together with other students over a beer. But when students religiously and inexcusably tie Tuesday nights to getting inebriated, college life becomes stagnant.

We all know the game "Simon Says" we played them when we were young. Well, John Travolta says disco and disco, and "Animal House" says (satirically) to "say" in togas and students ape them. If Simon doesn't "say" and idea is ostracized. Perhaps John Travolta should have said "Fill out the Concert Survey."

Letter To Ed.

Confusion Strikes

Dear Editor:

Being a new student here, I felt a little lost my first day. I didn't expect any problems though, I would just pick up a map to guide me around.

Much to my amazement, noone had a map to guide me through the Main Building. A map of the campus was available, but I was trying to decipher the Main Building.

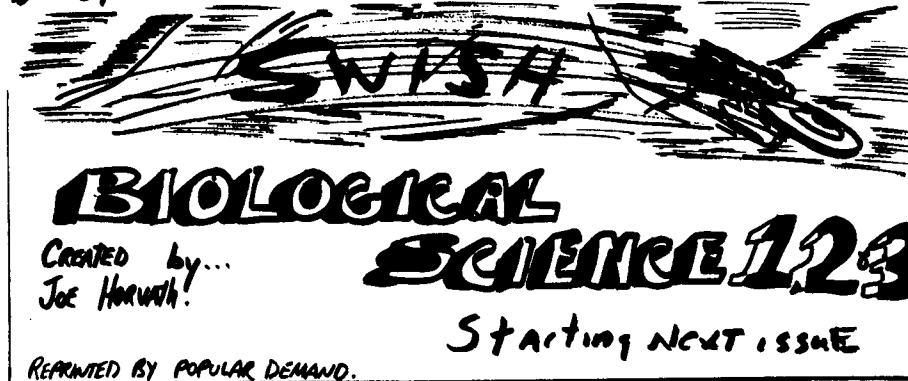

What made my journey even more difficult was that alot of the offices and rooms are not marked. I've been told that some of the rooms have even been switched, adding to my confusion, (although switched from what I don't know since I don't have a map).

I asked for help at the Public Public Information Office and Student Activities and Student Affairs office. They all were very cooperative in giving me directions and they all also thought that a map of the Main Building would be a good idea.

My suggestion to whoever could be in charge of this project is to print up a large map and post copies in various areas in the building or at least in the main entrance. I also suggest that all offices be marked.

Carol Eveschild

THE BODY... THE MOST COMPLEX FRONTIER... THIS IS THE VOYAGE OF THE USS BACILLUS. ITS THIRTY-FOUR PANEL MISSION... TO EXPLORE STRANGE NEW CELLS... TO SEEK OUT NEW GENETIC COMBINATIONS AND NEW BIOLOGICAL SYSTEMS... TO BOLDLY GO WHERE NO MICROSCOPE HAS GONE BEFORE....

Notes Of Interest

ASME/SAE KEGGAR Everyone knows that early term time is party time. So two fine engineering societies have joined to throw an early term keggars. "Disco to GO" will play the top 40, including pop rock and disco, while twelve halves plus punch keeps everyone wet. The event is scheduled for Tuesday, Jan.16, at the Student Center. The doors swing open at 9:00 and won't close til 2:00 am. So party up, it's early!

The Counseling Center is pleased to announce new and expanded evening hours for the campus community for the Winter and Spring Terms. In addition to its regular daily hours from 8:00 am to 12:00 pm, and from 1:00 to 5:00 pm, the Center will be open on Wednesday and Thursday evenings from 5:30 pm until 8:30 pm to accomodate evening students. Acounselor and full access to all Counseling Center resources will be available during these evening hours.

The Capitol Campus Chess Club is resuming meetings beginning Friday, Jan. 12 at 3:00 pm in the Gallery Lounge, and will continue meeting every Friday at 3:00 pm. All interested students and faculty members are invited. Please contact Mark Servinsky at 944-9220 for further information.

attention electrical engineers wndr has opened its doors once more, but it only goes to venderville. If you would like to hear WNDR in the dorms and meade heights, please contact Phillip Geigert at W - 106 (main building) or call me at 944-6634. Phillip Geigert, Station Manager

PHI BETA LAMBDA We have a sponsor for the 10,000 meter race and it's time to get our feet moving. Our first meeting will be held this Tuesday, Jan. 16 at 3:00, so look for the signs that are posted over in the Main Building if I fail to contact you personally. Phillip Geigert Psd

During the fall term the Photo Club tackled the task of providing students with pictures needed for the EIT applications. In addition, the club covered black & white printing techniques as well as viewed a film on custom color printing in preparation for this term's color work.

Interest is the only prerequisite for joining, and this terms first meeting will be held on Thursday, January 18th at 8:30 pm. Watch bulletin board for location.

c.c. reader
of the pennsylvania state university
the capitol campus
rte. 230
middletown, penna. 17057
office w - 129
phone [717] 944-4970

editor.....lyda baker
news editor.....carol eveschild
feature editor.....sue girolami
sports editor.....mike cocciardi
photography editor.....bob foster
copy editor.....louisa baskin

staff.....jane reinstadt, joan klein, vito valvano,
debbie morrow, tony romeo, jeff drinnan, michael argento, sue middleton

cartoonist.....joe Horath

Final deadline for submitting material is tuesday at 12p.m.
The views expressed in this paper are not necessarily those of the C.C. Reader.