

WoNDeR waves again

by jeff drinnan

The campus radio station WNDR has resumed broadcasting since Wednesday, Jan. 31 and can be tuned in on 640 AM from the dorms and Meade Heights and can be heard in Vendorville.

Operating from 7:30 to 5:00 p.m. daily, the station broadcasts a hodgepodge of music, school news, club advertisements and college activity advertisements. Possibly next term WNDR will have a musical format, having times of different types of music, for example, a Jazz hour, explained Phil Geigert, a senior who runs the broadcast end of the station.

WNDR had been shut down because in the past "People weren't maintaining the equipment or running it properly," said Geigert.

Through the repair work of Jim Kravitz and Curtis Rounds engineering majors at Capitol, the station was rendered operational. Kravitz said there are a few spots in the Heights where the station can't be tuned in. To know where the radio reception is bad or non-existent and to know if people want to listen to WNDR, the station has drawn up a survey.

Presently, one transmitter is working. A second transmitter now under repair should transmit "good quality all over the dorms and the heights," Kravitz said.

In the future, WNDR would like to get a third and fourth transmitter to transmit to the University apartments and the main building.

Kravitz said that the radio station has trouble getting people involved in working for the station. There's no incentive for someone to participate at WNDR. No credits are given for students working there. Students in the building program, he continued, could be given credit for helping figure out the radio reception areas in a building, for example.

Journalism interns offered

The Pennsylvania Legislative Correspondents Association, an organization of state government reporters based in Harrisburg, will have a summer intern program again in 1979.

Two students, who currently are Juniors, will be picked for the 12-week program which will begin in the late Spring. The stipend for each student will be $1,200. The program is open to students attending Pennsylvania colleges and to Pennsylvania residents who go to school out-of-state.

The interns will have the opportunity to work with reporters from the Harrisburg bureaus of AP, UPI and Allentown, Harrisburg, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh newspapers. The emphasis will be on reporting state government news and acceptable stories will be published. We are interested only in persons who plan to make journalism a career.

The deadline for applications is Feb. 28. Entries postmarked after this date will not be accepted. The PLCA Scholarship Committee will pick the interns by March 15 after personal interviews with the finalists. We also have two $500 scholarships available to finalists who can prove financial need.

Students who want to apply for the internships should provide the following information:

--A resume that includes information on all previous work experience.

--A copy of your latest transcript.

--Samples of your work (either clips or classroom assignments).

--Three references, preferably from journalism teachers or employers. Please include the telephone numbers of your references.

--300 to 500 words on how you plan to use this internship. It must be typed.

Students with questions about the program can contact Tom Ferrick at 717-787-5990.

The applications should be sent to:

Campus police news

Capitol Campus Police reported four minor hit and run accidents during January as a result of ice and snow in the parking lots. According to Police Chief Alesky, who described the accidents as "fender benders", a majority of the accidents occurred in the rear lot of the Main Building. There were five cases of theft reported to Capitol Campus Police during January also. Three of these cases involved items removed from parked cars. A CB radio was stolen from one vehicle, a portable radio from another and a blanket and other personal items from a third. A combination radio-tape recorder was stolen from an office in the Main Building and some racquetball racquets were taken from a locker in the Multi-Purpose Building.

The police also disclosed three minor acts of vandalism during the month of January: A stop sign located at the corner of Flickenger St. and Kirtland Ave. was turned upside-down and pointed in the wrong direction and a door in Church Hall and the bottom of an office door in the Student Center were kicked in.

The police also revealed they had officially assisted over 50 individuals on campus on such matters as diverse as charging people's dead car batteries, opening up doors for professors and helping motorists who were out of gas.
