

Continuing ed. news

I'll trade you all the tea in China for half a kilo of pure Peruvian Flake: High school students came to Capitol Campus last week to participate in a Model U.N. sponsored by the IAA. photo by bob foster

A one-day workshop entitled "Transactional Analysis" will be offered Tues., March 6 from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the multi-purpose building on campus.

The workshop is designed for supervisors, managers, and technical specialists who do not have formal training in psychology. It will deal with new tools and techniques for improving leadership, communication and human relations in management.

The fee for the workshop is $50, which includes the cost of instruction, course materials, coffee breaks, and lunch. For further information, contact the Continuing Education Office, or phone (717) 787-7753.

A Personal Development and Leadership Workshop will be presented on Tues., March 13 from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. on campus.

This workshop is for people who wish to gain a better understanding of interpersonal relations and leadership. Emphasis is placed on how to use their skills more effectively to accomplish administrative duties.

The fee of $45 includes all instructional materials, coffee breaks, luncheon, and a certificate of completion. For further information contact the Continuing Education Office, or phone (717) 787-7753.

Vet's Voice

The Office of Veterans Affairs would like to take this opportunity to help keep veterans informed of various items. We are hoping, in future issues, to be able to report on pending legislation, various changes in veteran-related benefits (educational and otherwise), and any other information which we feel may be of benefit or use to you.

As Spring Registration occurs, we would like to remind all veterans who have been certified for the Spring Term to contact the Veterans Affairs Office as to the number of credits they will be taking. The earlier this is done, the better the chance that there will not be a lengthy interruption between checks. We are not automatically notified of your enrollment when you check the registration cards that you will be applying for benefits.

As the new Congress settles in for the year, we look forward to various legislation being introduced on behalf of the veterans. From information previously received, we would expect to see bills, such as a rate increase for VA educational benefits, and a possible limited extension to the time limit, at least discussed. How they will fare in Congress we have no indication at this point.

Most full-time undergraduate veterans should now have received their renewal applications for PHEAA/BEOG for 1979-1980. If not, applications are available in the Veterans Affairs Office. Please remember that there is a May 1 deadline for filing. As in the past, if this deadline is not met, you will be in danger of not receiving an award for next year. Also, there is a separate PHEAA application for the Summer Term. When this becomes available we will let you know.

If there are topics which you would like to see discussed in future columns please contact Dave Doaty in the Veterans Affairs Office with your suggestions. As it now stands, we hope to discuss veterans employment opportunities, procedures for VA home loans, and various additional items in upcoming issues.

Scholarship Bank offers computerized financial aid

A new service designed to assist students in need of financial aid to continue school or plan for graduate school was announced today by the Scholarship Bank.

According to Steve Danz, Program Director, the new service will give each student a print-out of the scholarships, loans, grants and work-study sources available to him or her in that student's specific field.

Students apply by writing for and filling out a questionnaire which is then used as the key to the data bank. The questionnaire is like a mini-profile of each student, seeking information on year in school, major, occupational objectives, sex, religion, parent's union, employer and military service and student's outstanding abilities, such as leadership experience or sports. The service is so thorough according to the director, that in the field of girls' sports scholarships alone there are over 2,000 entries.

The director also indicated that the Scholarship Bank is the only program that offers a full listing of all graduate and post-graduate scholarships, which would be of interest to all grad students and even faculty.

The data bank guarantees that each student will receive at least $100 in aid, or the service fee of $25 will be refunded. Danz indicated that students unable to pay the $25 fee may receive a "basic" print-out of at least 15 scholarship sources for $15. The $25 fee will give students up to 50 sources of possible aid.

The data bank is up-dated daily with new scholarships and information changes in current scholarships. Due to the backlog of applications for this unique service, students should submit questionnaires as soon as possible.

The service will also send each applicant a publication on How to Play Grantsmanship, which will be of help to the students in applying for the aid. The Scholarship Bank cooperates with financial aids offices and does not duplicate their services, according to the director. Most financial aid offices give information only on sources that they administer.

Write to Scholarship Bank, 10100 Santa Monica 750, L.A. 90067 for an application. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and the required fee.

