

Students settle down quite nicely to the first cafe meal. There is always complaints about college cafe food, but the cafe is usually where one can find the biggest crowd.

Cocciardi's picks

by mike cocciardi

Atlanta at Detroit --Lions are 0-3 with serious quarter-back problems. The Falcons are 2-1 but both wins looked spectacular. On a given Sunday Detroit by 2.

Baltimore at Pittsburgh --The Steelers depth is phenomenal but if Bradshaw goes out the Steelers are lacking. The Colts couldn't beat a good midjet league team at the moment Pitt by 24.

Green Bay at Minnesota --The Packers have potential but they don't function well as a team. The Vikes are always tough in Bloomington. Mn by 6.

Houston at Cincinnati --Nielson did a fine job in place of Pastorini last week in the win over KC. The Bengals floundering but capable of pulling off an upset. Cinn by 4.

New York Jets at Buffalo --The Jets are finally playing the kind of ball everyone expected them to do earlier. Robinson looked sharp last week in win over Lions. The Bills are still learning how to take a punch. NY by 11.

San Diego at New England --These two teams follow much the same pattern, they both play well against the strong teams but stumble against the losers. In overtime NE by 3.

Washington at St. Louis --Should be the best matched of the week, the cardiac Cards always seem to find a way to beat the skins. Cards one point loss to Dallas, and three point loss to Steelers were no flukes. St. Louis by 7.

Oakland at Kansas City --After tough loss to Seahawks last week Oakland defense is ready to chew nails. Chiefs not a bad pick for an upset at home. Oak by 6.

Chicago at Miami --Bears game with Dallas was a lot different than 24-20 score would indicate. The Dolphins look sharp under Shula. Mia by 17.

Los Angeles at Tampa Bay --Surprising Bucs finally getting a reputation as a solid contender but the Rams have awesome talent on offense this year. LA by 10.

New Orleans at San Francisco --Who really cares. Snake bitten Saints are about ready to mash somebody though, and 49ers are ripe for the picking. NO by 17.

Philadelphia at New York Giants more here at stake than meets the eye, the Giants owe the Eagles a couple. In an upset NY by 1.

Seattle at Denver --The Broncos trying to regain that 4th quarter magic that took them to the Super Bowl the seahawks may pull a rabbit out of their hat. Sea by 4.

Dallas at Cleveland --Interesting game with both teams at 3-0 but the Cowboys have played well on the road so far. Dal by 3.

Correction

In the June 8 1979 issue of the Reader, it was incorrectly printed under 'Sports Shorts' that "Gerard Schmidt outlasted Joe Velas to take the (A Division) Championship" in the racquetball tournaments. The correct outcome of the event is that Joe Velas outlasted Gerard Schmidt. Sorry guys.
