WNDR NEWS

When we last left you, it was third down and long yardage. And now we're sitting with 4th down and inches. In other words, we're just about ready to take off. So hang onto your receivers and headphones because we are getting ready to throw the switch.

We still need a few more members to complete our already enthusiastic staff. We have weekly meetings on Thursdays at 8 p.m. in Room W-106. Until we throw the switch, you can listen to these local second-rate stations.

This photo, taken during the PEEC Conference weekend at nearby Bushkill Falls, proves that Hillel's president Jackie Lear can 'bear' up to the most unusual encounters.

Graduate Student Union

An organizational meeting of the Graduate Student Union will be held on Tuesday, October 14, 1980 at 8:30 p.m. at 951B Kirtland Ave. All those interested are urged to attend.

Graduate students at Capitol Campus will be interested to learn that the Graduate Student Union has been resurrected and will hold an organizational meeting Tuesday, Oct. 14 at 951B Kirtland Ave. The meeting gets under way at 8:30 p.m. and refreshments will be served. The club has existed at various times in the past, but inevitably floundered due to lack of support. Hopefully, this time it will be different.

A provisional executive committee consisting of Jitsuro Yamamoto, president, Ken Clement and Kathy Erwood, secretary, Roya Salmassian, treasurer, and Dr. Robert Bresler, faculty adviser, has created a charter and submitted a budget to the SGA. The charter lists the following objectives:

1. To promote contact among the graduate students of Capitol Campus.
2. To enrich the lives of all members of the campus community through sponsorship of social events, lectures, trips, and films.
3. To establish a graduate student common room.

Membership is open to all full- and part-time graduate students at Capitol Campus. Call Yama or Ken at 944-6504 for more information.

College Enrollment Project

According to Intercollegiate Press, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has become the stepping stone for a project intended to 'preserve the quality and diversity of Pennsylvania's highly regarded system of higher education.'

The project, which will eventually be nationwide, is entitled 'The Pennsylvania Enrollment Planning Project,' and is headed by Dr. Robert Zemsky, director of the University of Pennsylvania's Higher Education Finance Research Institute and Office of Planning Analysis.

Dr. Zemsky named the project's three objectives:

1. To profile each of the state's regional admissions markets. This includes detailed information on student populations, socio-economic backgrounds, academic aptitude and aspirations.
2. To project the probable size and structure of the regional markets through 1985 and each institution's share of the market.
3. To furnish a planning model that collegiate officers will be able to use to determine the feasibility and financial risks of alternate enrollment plans.

Mapping the regional distribution of prospective students will enable colleges and universities to develop long-range strategies for maintaining enrollments.
