Theatre Review

By Keith N. Gantz

Harrisburg Community Theatre's latest production was truly a work of art. Their performance was quite moving. It evoked all the emotions that Aristotle would have required for a good drama.

About the story--If you are not familiar with the story about Helen Keller by this point in your life-- READ IT!

The guest director, Don L. Alsedek is a native of Harrisburg. He began his association with HCT in the mid-forties in Junior Theatre. His most recent work has been at the York Little Theatre and the Little Theatre of Mechanicsburg.

The Harrisburg Community Theatre will hold open auditions for the popular comedy Same Time, Next Year on Sunday and Monday evenings, November 23rd and 24th at 7PM. The auditions will be conducted in the theatre facility at 6th and Hurlock Sts. by Thomas Hostetter, HCT's Managing Director.

Same Time, Next Year chronicles an extra-marital affair between Doris and George (the only characters in the play). After meeting by chance and spending a weekend together, the couple continues to meet for one weekend annually over the ensuing 25 years. The script examines their relationship and the changes each character undergoes during this period of time.

Actors are needed who can portray Doris and George from about age 25 through 50. Doris appears, alternately, as housewife, mother, "hippie," business woman and grandmother. George is seen as a CPA, husband, father, pianist and business manager. Both roles require an acute sense of comic timing in addition to considerable emotional range.

The auditions will consist of readings from the script as required by the discretion of the director. For further information, call 238-7381.
