Wumke Is Not Alone

Editor:

Hi there, gang. What's shakin'? How about the leaves on the trees? They sure are beautiful this time of year in south-central Pennsylvania. In fact, I guess they are all over the Commonwealth. Oh, yeah. It's WUMKE here at your service once again. (at least)

It sure was great to receive a letter from the top men on campus last issue. I appreciate it, Provost Gross. And thank you too, Dean Gross. (Are youse guys brothers or something?) As many of you know by now, I soak up this kind of attention like the boron rods on TMI used to soak up neutrons. It made the little day of this little man a little brighter.

The Penn State Night at Thirsty's Tavern a few weeks back was a tremendous success. My usually reliable sources tell me it was packed all night. Yes, I did make a "brief" appearance. They were Fruit-of-the-Looms, I believe. (Get it? Briefs-Fruit of the Looms?) Just remember that if we Capitolites treat the local beer-tenders right, they'll treat us right.

Too bad about Anwar, huh? How uncivilized can a country get is what I'd like to know. Assassinating its own president-how barbaric!

My fearless "Win With WUMKE" baseball predictions? I thought you'd never ask! In the National League, I'll take L.A. in four games. I'll go out on a limb in the American League-the A's in five. The World Series will be a repeat of the 1974 show, but with opposite results: the Dodgers in seven games.

On a more serious level, this letter will mark the first appearance of the writings of Progenitor, a person who was well loved by many, many people at Capitol. So without further ado, a direct quote from Progenitor:

"Let us be proud of who we are and who we are not. Together, our strengths and weaknesses can and will be used for the betterment of all. Yea, we shall forge a renewed patriotism and spirit in our country that shall be heard around the world. The sun shall never set on the land that is effected by our efforts.

I believe in the United States of America and its people who I proudly serve. Amen.

The world has enough great names and great leaders who have satisfied their own passions. Let us not lead, but let us serve. And let us serve faithfully, but in peace. For is it not in giving that we receive, in losing what we cannot keep that we gain that which we will never lose, in listening and comforting that we hear and strengthen, and in serving that we lead?"

Pretty heady stuff, huh? But that's the way it is, Thursday, October 15, 1981. Philosophers come, philosophers go, but I remain

LEONARD WUMKE

A Message From The President

I would like to remind everyone that they are welcome to attend the SGA meetings--they are open to everyone. However, there is one stipulation.

According to the SGA Constitution passed last spring (Article VI, Section 8, Floor Privileges), there will be a separate section on the agenda for introduction of visitors by sponsoring senators or officers if a visitor wishes to speak on an item that is contained on that meeting's agenda. If a visitor would like to be put on the agenda, the visitor must request floor privileges one week prior to the meeting at which the respective visitor is to speak. The request will be granted with two-thirds majority of the Senate. The following week, the visitor will be put on the agenda and introduced to the SGA by a sponsoring officer or senator.

It is a good idea to get to know your senators, since they can see to it that you are permitted to speak at the SGA meetings. The following people are senators and officers of the Student Government Association:

- Roberta Bronson, President
- Steve King, Vice-President
- Karen Kurek, Treasurer
- Robbie Adler, Secretary
- Tish Whalen, Secretary
- John Robinson, Sr. Senator, Business
- Bill Neil, Sr. Senator, Humanities

- Cathy Russo, Sr. Senator-At-Large
- Bill Barger, Sr. Senator, Public Affairs
- Jim Hawkins, Sr. Senator, Science, Engineering & Technology
- Raj Varma, Grad. Senator
- Dilip Patel, Sr. Senator-At-Large
- Sal Sebastiani, Sr. Senator-At-Large
- Joni Rogers, Jr. Senator, Humanities
- Michael Treanor, Jr. Senator, Public Administration

Please feel free to contact any of these people about SGA. They all have mailboxes in W-110, and my office hours are second period, Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday.

Don't forget juniors--Petitions for junior senator positions are due on Friday, October 16. One senator will be elected from each academic division: Business, Education, Engineering, Humanities, Mathematical Sciences, Social Science, and four Senator-at-Large positions will be filled.

If you are interested in getting involved in SGA, please feel free to come into W110 and pick up a petition. A platform must be written, and, in addition, 25 signatures from students must be obtained.

Roberta Bronson
President, SGA
