

A Message From The President

As the new term starts, it's time to get involved in the clubs you missed out on last term. All clubs will accept new members, so don't be shy. Club mailboxes are located in W110 in order for you to contact the club that interests you. Just leave a note with your name and phone number and let the club contact you. Meeting dates are usually posted on the bulletin boards in the Main Building--so there is no excuse for not getting involved.

I have heard some complaining about the clubs asking for ID's and proof-of-age at the door of social events held in the Student Center. I am asking you to please understand that these people are only following state laws. This procedure will be enforced for the safety of you, the club holding the event, and the University.

For the suggestion of mailboxes for commuting students made at Stone Valley, I believe that because of many factors it will not be achieved this year. Instead, a commuter center is being designed. Look for it in the future!

Drugs

chronic elevated blood pressure (hypertension), chronic irregular pulse rate, and kidney or liver problems. In addition, there is the risk of becoming psychologically and mildly physically addicted to these substances.

3) Potentiation effects are essentially the same as synergistic but result from mixing "look-a-likes" with alcohol. When alcohol is combined with "look-a-likes," there is an extremely strong chance that there can be heart, respiratory and renal shutdown because of the shock to the body caused by the alcohol.

WHAT'S THE BOTTOM LINE ON LOOK-A-LIKES? Using "look-a-likes" is like playing Russian roulette. The risk is sure and the consequences permanent. You simply do not know what you are taking and how powerful it can be. Taking more than one can be life-threatening, as indeed is washing it down with alcohol. Therefore, if you or your friends are considering using them, just ask yourself... Is it worth the risk?

For more information on "look-a-likes," or if someone you know is having a problem with these drugs, feel free to stop by the Health Services Office (W-102) or call us at 948-6015. We'll be happy to answer your questions and deal with your concerns.

Frisbetarianism?

By Campus Digest News Service

San Francisco Chronicle writer Herb Caen reports that Berkeley students were recently asked to specify their religious preference in a survey.

One student reportedly put "Frisbetarianism," which the student explained was the "belief that when you die, your soul goes up on the roof and no one can get it down."

Trouble in The Lion's Den

By Kevin Spiegel

The day started out for most students as a typical Monday morning, but it ended up as a strange experience for a few down in the Lion's Den.

It all began when a Capitol graduate from the class of 1979, Vito Valvano, charged into the Lion's Den and allegedly stated that the Penn State Capitol Campus had brainwashed him. An eyewitness recalled that the man then proceeded to pull out a letter opener and attempted to stab himself.

The students who were around Valvano thought nothing of the incident until he ripped open his shirt and tried to stab himself. Two students grabbed Valvano and wrestled him to the ground. Police and other authorities rushed to the scene as medical officials attended to the victim. Valvano was transported to the Harrisburg Hospital for treatment.

If You Can't Take A Joke...

I'm sorry I hurt feelings! In my first article I told you that the article was in fun. None of the things I wrote about was serious. You see, I thought the people I wrote about would understand that. I assumed that everyone here at Capitol Campus could take a joke. But you know what Benny Hill says about assuming!

I want to make a special apology to the Accounting Club. There are many nice people in that club who do not deserve the unfairness with which I treated them. I hope you all accept these apologies.

I was wrong to be so subjective and I won't write Capitol Collage any more. Have a good Winter Term.
