Intramural Bowling Rolls Along

Bowling—the object is to knock down ten pins with two throws. It sounds easy, but try it sometimes. Week after week, the Capitol Campus intramural bowling league ventures to shift into high gear for fun and laughter.

Tehre are no Earl Anthonys, Mark Roths, or even Pete and Dee Dee Webers amongst the group. But names like Mr. & Mrs. Colonel Frack, Big Dan McMillen, Steady Don Nordmark, Thunderous Mark Frey and even Sargeant Bob Sharkey, head up a very interesting league.

What is a bowling league without those pretty females? To name a few, we have Sandy of WSDC, Eva (Mrs. Frack) of High Volage, Marie of Cardiac Arrest and the always awesome Pat Murphy.

A name is always important for a bowling team, one that stands out and shows what that team is made of. For example, there are the Vipers (Webster defines a viper as a treacherous or malignant person). The Ltd's just love to drink, and bowl. WSDC is Wrisberg's Social Drinking Club. I suggest a new team for an upcoming league. If the Ltd's and WSDC formed one team, there would be a lot of people who like to drink, for the fun of it, never mind bowling.

As for the present spring term, the rookie Weekend Warriors and the veteran Vipers continue to battle for the top spot. Captain Steve Fink is leading his team, Cardiac Arrest, into third place. They are closely followed by Colonel Frack and his team of High Voltage. Those are the four favorites to go on to the playoffs, but any of the four remaining teams could be spoilers. The Ltd's, Bad Examples, WSDC, and J.S. the R.M. are all sitting in "spoiler" positions.

The spring term's top bowler is Dan McMillen at 178. He's been a very consistent bowler and his 212 game is still only second this term. The best female bowler is Marie Vajda at 137. She has bowling's triple crown at the present time. She has high average (137), high game (166) and high series (448), in addition being in a tight playoff battle.
