

What do you think about a change in the grading system that would implement pluses and minuses?

"G.P.A. must be considered in this issue. There's such a wide disparity of grades, it's high time something is done."

Craig Reed
Business Administration

"I think it's great because it'll give students an advantage if they know whether or not they have a high A or a low A. There's a big difference."

Deb Langdon
Behavioral Science

"Last term I got an 89.4 average and received a B. This proposal should be followed up on because I'll get a reputation of being a B student when I could potentially be an A student."

Frank S. Stramara
Public Policy, Law
and Society

"This change would increase student competition and C's won't be as common."

Daniel Borowiak
EDET

"Other major campuses have this system, so I don't see why they shouldn't use it here. In the Engineering Division, this is really important."

Janet Bogush
MDET

"It's definitely a good idea. I think this improves a student's chances of making the Dean's List. The distinction between high and low grades will increase student motivation."

Jessie Fordham Humanities

Photos by Jerry Trently