

New incentive program makes debut in dorms this year

The DRIP program has kept the amount of damages to Capitol's dormitories at low tide.

The Damage Reduction Incentive Plan (DRIP) will reward a floor in the dorms for keeping the amount of damages low.

DRIP was instituted by the Residence Living Program early in the Fall to provide an incentive for the floors in Church and Wrisberg Halls to keep their malicious vandalism at a minimum. In the past Resident Assistants were urged to tell their floor members not to vandalize or the whole floor would have to split the damage bills at the year's end.

"With the DRIP program, floors now have a positive reinforcement to keep their damages down," said Pat Murphy, Coordinator of the Residence Living Program.

"Our damages have been low this year," said John Pellecchia, Assistant Coordinator. The Residence Living Program plans to promote the DRIP incentive more next year.

"We like to reward floors for responsibility in dealing with communal property," Pellecchia said.

The floor with the lowest dollar amount of damage will be treated to a surf and turf dinner in the dining hall and be presented with a plaque on June 7.

Take Charge At 22.

In most jobs, at 22 you're near the bottom of the ladder.

In the Navy, at 22 you can be a leader. After just 16 weeks of leadership training, you're an officer. You'll have the kind of job your education and training prepared you for, and the decision-making authority you need to make the most of it.

As a college graduate and officer candidate, your Navy training is geared to making you a leader. There is no boot camp. Instead, you receive professional training to help you build the technical and management skills you'll need as a Navy officer.

This training is designed to instill confidence by first-hand experience. You learn by doing. On your first sea tour, you're responsible for managing the work of up to 30 men and the care of sophisticated equipment worth millions of dollars.

It's a bigger challenge and a lot more responsibility than most corporations give you at 22. The rewards are bigger, too. There's a comprehensive package of benefits, including special duty pay. The starting salary is $16,400—more than most companies would pay you right out of college. After four years, with regular promotions and pay increases, your salary will have increased to as much as $29,800.

As a Navy officer, you grow, through new challenges, new tests of your skills, and new opportunities to advance your education, including the possibility of attending graduate school while you're in the Navy.

Don't just take a job. Become a Navy officer, and take charge. Even at 22.
