Capitol Hosts Health Fair

By Linda McCarty

It was a "healthy affair" colored with clowns and balloons and backgrounded with song and "exotic" aerobic dancers.

On March 26 and 27, Capitol Campus hosted a health fair in the Multi-Purpose Building that was free and open to the public.

A wide variety of health-related organizations were represented, distributing free literature and offering advice to interested passers-by.

For more appearance-conscious individuals, there were free facials, haircuts, manicures and make-up consultations. Representatives from the Empire Beauty School and Concept Now demonstrated both their talents and their products.
