

Capitol Times

Work progresses on the roof of the new bookstore building, scheduled to open September 28.

Office moves top campus face lift

By Neil Myers

A plan for the relocation of at least two campus offices is the newest in a series of changes under way this week at Capitol Campus. In addition, several other projects, including a new bookstore and Science/Technology Building, are in various stages of completion.

possibly in the current bookstore area, according to several sources within the campus administration. The changes were initiated by the Provost's Office, according to several sources.

Pete Mekosh, S.G.A. president, said the Student Activities Office would also move to the second floor.

According to Chris Barrett, chairman of a student task force planning the relocation of S.G.A. and club offices, the new arrangement will allow more room for WNDR and the clubs. He said an "open office concept" with few walls is being considered.

Offices Relocated

Plans have been drawn for the relocation of the club offices in W-110 and WNDR radio to W-216, the relocation of the Student Activities Office to W-212, and the relocation of the Provost's office to the first floor,

Continued on p. 6.

Classes canceled

Campus set for provost gala

By Tony Perry

Construction is scheduled to begin today of a large tent that will serve as the location of a campus picnic and installation ceremony next week in honor of Capitol Campus' new provost, Dr. Ruth Leventhal.

"My main thrust," said Leventhal, "is that it [the installation ceremonies] be a family affair -- a celebration together of another beginning."

Leventhal said the picnic was conceived as a part of her goal to "try to get students and faculty to do more activities and have more dialog together -- to get them to interact."

"It's really important that we create the atmosphere of community."

According to Sherry Walker, Assistant to the Director for Campus Relations, the 60 by 180 foot green and yellow tent that is scheduled to be erected on the Main Lawn -- the grassy area between the new student center and the Olmstead building south of the new bookstore -- will house the installation ceremonies Tuesday at 6 p.m. The tent will be accompanied by two smaller tents which will be used to house refreshments for the events.

The installation events will begin Monday at noon when the Provost's picnic will be held in the tent area until 5 p.m. The picnic is free of charge and open to all students, faculty and staff bearing free tickets which must be picked up no later than today at the Campus Relations Office, W-205 or the Dining Hall.

Classes will be canceled on Monday from noon until 5 p.m. and all classes after 4:30 p.m. will be canceled Tuesday.

Tuesday's installation ceremony, for which director for campus relations Michael J. Breslin said 15,000 invitations were issued, will include an address by Dr. Donna E. Shalala, President of City University of New York's Hunter College where Leventhal was dean of the School of Health Sciences from 1981 until her appointment as Capitol's provost.

"She's a wonderful person for the students to see," said Leventhal of Shalala, who was assistant secretary for policy development and research at the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development from 1977 until 1980. Leventhal said Shalala is a "wonderful role model for young people" because of her background and achievements in education. Shalala is a past director of the Municipal Assistance Corporation for the City of New York; the agency that was created to find a solution to the New York City financial crisis.

Remarks will be made before Shalala's address by Peter Mekosh, President of the Student Government Association; Darlene Crawford, President of the Capitol Campus Alumni Society; John Wade, Chair of the Faculty Council; Donald Rentschler, executive assistant to the commissioner for Higher Education; William R. Davis, Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; John Hershey, Chair of the Capitol Campus Board of Advisers and Walter Conti, President of the Penn State Board of Trustees.

After Shalala's address, PSU president Dr. Bryce Jordan will perform the ceremony of installation, after which the new provost will offer a few remarks.

In addition to the provost's installation, Board of Advisers Chair John O. Hershey and former Chair Ralph E. Peters are scheduled to receive the provost's community service award.

A reception sponsored by the Capitol Campus Board of Advisers will follow.

Monday's picnic will feature a lunch of hot dogs, Continued on p. 2

The Pennsylvania State University requests the honour of your presence at the installation of

Ruth Leventhal

as Provost and Dean of The Capitol Campus

on Tuesday, the eleventh of September

Nineteen hundred and eighty-four at six o'clock in the evening on the main lawn of

The Capitol Campus

The Pennsylvania State University

Reception immediately following