

New CC scholarship

By Dave Donlin

The first scholarship program has been established at Capitol Campus for full-time undergraduate students.

The Capitol Campus Memorial Scholarship, an endowed scholarship program, was developed by Business faculty members. It was approved by the University and Board of Trustees on August 14, 1984, according to Michael Breslin, Director of Campus Relations.

A minimum of $15,000 is required for the scholarship program to be activated. Interest earned on the first $15,000 will be used as individual awards to full-time undergraduates enrolled or planning to enroll at Capitol. So far, approximately $3,000 has been raised, Breslin said.

Each scholarship award will be made in memory of a deceased faculty or staff member of the campus. The first Capitol Campus Memorial Scholarship will be made in memory of Dr. James Atkins. A date for the presentation of the first award is unknown at this time.

Students must have at least a sixth-semester standing, have demonstrated academic achievement, and have participated in campus and civic activities to be eligible for the Capitol Campus Memorial Scholarship.

Recipients of the new memorial scholarship will be selected by the Committee on Academic and Athletic Standards, Awards, and Scholarships. Academic division and staff members, along with students comprise the committee. Recipients also must meet the approval of the Office of Student Aid.

The organization also agreed to accept Humanities major Beth Horne as a candidate for the vacant Junior Senator position representing the Humanities Division. The group also received the monthly treasurer's report which listed 13 clubs whose accounts have been frozen until they file an excuse for not attending bi-weekly President's Council meetings, which S.G.A. requires.
