

Survey: "Your Questions"

1. Should dances return to B.Y.O.B.? _____
2. Would you like to see coat racks put in? _____
3. Are you happy at Capital College? _____
4. If you answered "No", why not? _____
5. Would you like to see this campus grow? _____
6. Do you think the new library should contain a theatre or a new learning center?/What is your opinion on the H2L2

Plan?

7. Do you find registration and voting procedures cumbersome? _____
8. Why is the city of York's bus system facing cutoff? _____

Your responses in the last survey, though meager, were quite interesting. 70% of you didn't vote in the last election!! Your main reason for not voting was not being familiar with the issues or candidates. Your secondary reasons were "no stamps," "not registered in county," "too busy," "a-political," and "apathy." You are all looking to change professions or grow in your fields. You are all "always truthful" in answering a survey, except for one "never always-truth hurts." You averaged reading seven books last year, with some of your favorite books being Green Eggs and Ham, The Creation of the Panama Canal, Zen and the Art of Motorcycle Maintenance, A River Runs Thru It, and Slaughter House 5. Your favorite activities include backpacking, sex, needlework, and skiing. You want to see a bus for Capital College to all PSU football games next Fall. You want to see more surveys, more Faculty, Student, and Employee profiles, and you would like to see the problems of students 35 and older addressed. (Your median age is 31.) Very few of you made New Year resolutions, for as one respondent put it, "I always break them."

Letter to the Editor

Angry Students Defend Individual Rights to Opinions

Dear Editor,

We would like to reply to the letters written by both Jean Eileen Withoft and Bill Eason. These letters referred to the letter, written by Christine Collins, concerning the attitudes of some of the administrative employees in the Olmsted Building.

First, Jean Withoft stated in her letter that Ms. Collins has an unfortunate attitude. I don't believe that statement was anywhere fair, appropriate, or accurate. Ms. Collins was merely stating her own feelings and opinions, which we are all entitled to. Jean Withoft may believe that Ms. Collins has an unfortunate attitude, but she has in no way supported her argument with legitimate facts, thoughts and/or reasons. She merely put down Ms. Collins' attitude and hoped that others would agree with her statements.

Next, in her letter, Jean Withoft mentioned that on occasion, when she used the service of the administrative offices in the Olmsted Building, she found the employees helpful and mannerly. Perhaps she was treated fine, but many other people are not treated with such respect. For Jean Withoft to state her opinion is fine, but once again, other people are entitled to their opinions also, and to immaturely ridicule one's attitude because she has a different opinion is foolish.

Jean Withoft asked the questions, what is Christine Collins' major and what small town does she come from. I don't see what this has to do with anything, but her major is marketing and if there was any implication that small town people are sheltered and stupid, the small town that Christine comes from is Philadelphia.

Next, in Bill Eason's letter, he mainly rambled on about some of the employees of the Heindel Library. He stated that the employees in the library have been helpful to him, and that Christine Collins' letter was unjust. Well, Ms. Collins mentioned in her letter only the certain offices which employ rude workers, and the Heindel library was never even mentioned in her letter. Such details should not be overlooked.

Perhaps 50 students is not a true sample of the student population at this university, but if 50 people are unhappy with the situation, then something must be wrong. And we, separate but equal, stand behind Christine Collins.

Sincerely,

28 Residents of Church Hall
