Contests

A.T. & T.

A Penn State Harrisburg student this fall could win a 1990 Chevrolet Camaro IROC-Z in the fifth annual AT&T college sweepstakes.

AT&T also will be giving away computers and telephones in this fall's sweepstakes.

To enter the sweepstakes, students need only visit the AT&T information booth on or near campus and fill out an "instant winner card." Every student wins an instant prize by uncovering a circle on the card.

The students are then automatically entered in the campus drawing. AT&T will give away a cordless telephone and combination answering machine/telephone on each campus.

Students who fill out cards also are entered in the national drawing, where they're eligible for the Grand Prize Camaro or one of five AT&T personal computers.

In addition, students who visit an information booth and subsequently sign up for AT&T Long Distance Service receive $4 in AT&T Long Distance Gift Certificates, good for up to 30 free minutes of long-distance calling.

Complete sweepstakes rules are available at the AT&T information booths.

The sweepstakes is part of AT&T's annual student representative program. Each fall, on campuses across the country, AT&T employs student representatives to staff information booths and answer questions about AT&T longdistance services. The student representatives can explain long-distance service, and AT&T's optional long-distance plan, Reach Out (R) America.

AT&T also has a toll-free telephone number, 1-800-242-1019, that students can call for assistance in setting up phone service.

The deadline for entering this fall's sweepstakes is Oct. 30, 1989.

More A.T.& T.

Colege students across the country this fall will be studying the stock market in their quest for the $25,000 top prize in the second annual TT&T Collegiate Investment Challenge.

The objective is to compile the most profitable stock portfolio by the end of the four-month competition.

This year's competition, with $200,000 in cash and merchandise, is expected to outdraw the first AT&T Collegiate Investment Challenge, which last fall attracted 11,250 student contestants representing every state.

Students can call toll-free 1-800-545-1990 to register and receive game rules and materials needed to participate. The registration fee is $49.95 for college students, college professors also can play the Challenge in a separate category, the registration fee is also $49.95. Deadline for registering is Oct. 27.
