

COMMUNITY

manager of Facilities and Maintenance Operations.

The funding for the project was provided by the provost from the general budget Mahar said. Although, funds from the Humanities budget will be spent for the furnishings in the offices.

"The project will cost $3500," Witmer said. "We're hoping to have it finished on schedule by the middle of February."

The plan for the expansion was very innovative in that it allowed the division to reclaim over 100 feet of space originally used for storage.

"We recognized the need for extra office space and this seemed like a logical thing to do," Dr. Mahar said. "The maintenance department came up with a creative response to the space problem."

"The only bad thing was that we could not have natural lighting through a skylight," he added.

The expansion itself will contain an open work area for professors in the Humanities division as well as housing the divisions slide collection of over 40,000 slides.

This will allow the current slide archive room to be turned into two brand new offices, as well as converting Dr. Simon Bronner's current office into the new part-time faculty office.

According to Dr. Mahar, the old part-time faculty office will be turned into an interactive video classroom. This classroom would allow two way video and audio instruction between University Park, Penn State Harrisburg and other campuses in the Penn State network.

One of the professors scheduled to receive a new office is first year faculty member Dr. Patricia E. Johnson. Johnson, who previously taught at the University of Alabama in Huntsville, is currently cramped into the back corner of the part-time faculty office located in W-335.

"It will be nice to be in the Humanities division office because I'll get to know other professors," she said. "I'm just around the corner now, besides I have a good view of Three Mile Island."

The Inter Campus Collaborative Grant (ICCG) has accepted proposals for nine volunteer projects, which include: entertaining critically ill children, feeding and clothing the homeless and tutoring school children in math, science, reading and computer skills.

The ICCG. is a $7,000 grant that has been awarded to Penn State Harrisburg (PSH) and Harrisburg Area Community College (HACC) to foster joint volunteerism.

The Projects were evaluated on the basis of community need, creativity, student collaboration between PSH and HACC and the opportunity to work with public schools.

Tamara Cohick is the Student Project Coordinator at PSH and if you have any questions about how you can get involved.

She can be reached at the Office of Student Activities. Phone: (717)948-6271.

Future issues of the Capital Times will include profiles on these projects.

WPSH

The Voice of Penn State Harrisburg

	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday
9:00	Jim Gill "Classic Rock"	OPEN	Jim Gill "Mary Turner off the record"	OPEN	OPEN
10:00	Bill Schrader "R & R Never Forgets"	Bob DeCoudres "Classic Rock"	Bill & Bob "Classic Rock"	Bob D. "Westwood One"	Bill S. "Classic Rock"
11:00	Leah Sendi "Top 40"	Jesse Lonon "Pop"	Leah Sendi "Top 40"	Jesse Lonon "Pop"	Leah Sendi "Top 40"
12:00	Michael Lamisis "All Types"	OPEN	Tom Baker "Dance"	OPEN	Michael Lamisis "All Types"
1:00	Lynn Jesuitt "Top 40"	Jeff Quinn "Dance & Rap"	Lynn Jesuitt "Top 40"	Jeff Quinn "Dance & Rap"	Mark Slater "Alternative"
2:00	Jim Ellsworth "Jazz & Classic Rock & Roll"	OPEN	OPEN	OPEN	OPEN
3:00		Y	O	U	R
4:00	Tim Kuveck "Classic & Hard Rock"	N	A	M	E
5:00	Tom Rodino & Marla Spoonhour "Hard Rock & Metal"	H	E	R	E
6:00

We want you!! Become a DJ!!

Stop in room 343 or phone 948-6396

LET YOUR SWEETHEART KNOW YOU CARE ON VALENTINE'S DAY

The Capital Times is giving you a chance to tell your significant other, current infatuation or both just how deeply Cupid's arrow has penetrated your heart. In our special Valentine issue, February 14, 1990, sweethearts will be given space to let their feelings flow.

Reach into the depths of your soul and be as creative as words permit. But, we do ask you to limit your creativity to 25 words or less.

The Capital Times will strategically place specially designed boxes de l'amour (boxes of love) around campus; therefore, all you closet Romeos and Juliets have no barriers stopping you from expressing your Courtly Love.

Deadline for deciding which of your sweethearts will be so honored is February 9. So write a letter that would make Cyrano proud.

AHEDD Inc.

Do you have problems finding good, reliable workers? AHEDD, Inc. can help you. For information of how you can benefit from hiring a person with a disability, call 763-0968.