

From Library pg. 1

p.m. Both meetings will be held in the Gallery Lounge.

"We want as much student input as possible on this," said SGA President Frank Nieves in the senate meeting Oct. 22. "We might not see the benefit of this, but students in future generations will"

All proposals for future use of the space must be received in the office of physical plant, and directed to the task force chair, Ed Dankanich. Proposal deadline is 5 p.m., Nov. 27, 1996. A second college meeting is scheduled for Jan. 23, 1997, in the Gallery Lounge. The purpose of the meeting is to review all the proposals that were submitted with the campus community.

The committee will submit its final recommendations to Dr. James D. South, associate provost for administration on March 1, 1997.

To find out more information about the proposal process, contact the task force chair Ed Dankanich at (717) 948-6235, or any member of the committee.

From Honors pg. 2

Candidates need to have a GPA of at least 3.2 and may be either full-time or part-time students. An application can be obtained from Nancy Hollis by calling 948-6759 or by contacting Dr. Mazis at 948-6202.

From Fencing pg. 3

clubs with whom the PSH club could eventually compete.

For more information about the Fencing club, contact Rachel Wright at 761-0550, or via e-mail at rwright@ptdprobng.net. There is also a mailbox for the Fencing club in the student activities office.

From Fuel pg. 5

relate to, music.

Because performing and creating music is how Bell makes his living and pays for his college education, Bell says that his commitment to Fuel comes "first and foremost."

However, despite the band's schedule, Bell commits time and a concentrated effort to his course work so that he can "absorb" the material and achieve the maximum benefit from his academic experience, he says.

"On the way to a club, Carl will be sitting in the car with a flashlight in his mouth, reading a book," Abbott says.

He says that Bell also studies and reads assignments between sets.

"And we have been in some pretty horrendous band rooms," he adds.

Bell says that his two lives as rock musician and college student are actually quite complimentary. It is a difficult schedule, but he says that it suits him.

The band now awaits the release of their compact disc "Porcelain" in mid-November.

Bell anticipates that the time he must dedicate to Fuel will increase and that the band's schedule will become more hectic then.

Although his education is important to him, Bell says that he might not be able to attend classes next semester so that he can direct his attention to the opportunities that the band will have after the CD is released.

"I've been pursuing this for so long, I'm at the point of no return," he says.

MEET PROVOST AND DEAN JOHN BRUHN AND STUDENT GOVERNMENT REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 4 AND THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 21

LIVE MUSIC

STOP IN DROP IN ANYTIME

REFRESHMENTS

7 TO 8:15 PM IN THE MAIN Lobby

THE CAPITAL TIMES WISHES YOU A HAPPY HALLOWEEN

SGA wants to "lock up" volunteers

Jody L. Jacobs Editor

The student government association (SGA) is planning a "lock up" fundraiser for Nov. 20.

The SGA is seeking faculty and staff volunteers who are willing to be locked up "for fun" in the Olmsted Building lobby, according to SGA Vice President, Liane Bankos.

Those who allow themselves to be "arrested" should be sponsored by an individual or group. Students can even arrange to have faculty and staff "locked up," Bankos said. Once jailed, the individual will receive one phone call to raise money in order to "bail" themselves out, she added.

Bankos said she is attempting to make arrangements with the campus police to have their officers make the "arrests."

Provost and Dean, John H. Bruhn; Associate Provost for Administration, James South; and Director of Student Affairs, Donald Holtzman have volunteered to give up their freedom for this fundraising event, Bankos said.

"Actually, it's not the fundraising that I'm focusing on," the vice president said, "it's getting students more involved in fun campus activities that's important to me."

If you would like to volunteer to be "locked up" on Nov. 20, or would like arrange an "arrest," call Liane Bankos in the SGA office at (717) 948-6137.

It Doesn't Take A Math Major To Reduce The Coefficient of Drag to .31

(And Do It With A Lot Of Style.)

Toyota's Affordable Sporty Fun Car.

SEE YOUR TOYOTA DEALER TODAY.

DON'T FORGET TO VOTE

ELECTION DAY IS NOV. 5