PSU is one of the biggest Universities in our country, right? The millions of dollars generated through this institution are going where? Where's the money being used that I paid for parking, computers, activity fees? There's no art classes! No ceramics courses! I went to Bloomsburg U. for 3 years, an institution that has far less money than PSU and I never paid to park, use computers, and pay for paper, and we had great facilities. I'm embarrassed to say this is a PSU campus.

Smokers are willing to smoke in a designated area, however, there are no areas that offer shelter from inclement weather. Parking costs are excessive. With all the costs students incur, it seems the basic need for parking would be free. Also, parking is far from the buildings, which can be a hinderance for students with medical problems who aren't in possession of a handicap parking permit.

Prices of parking permits vary from campus to campus. Hopefully they will lower it. Bookstore prices are also hard to swallow.

I would like to see more activity and campus function forums addressed. It would be great if this campus & the SGA involved everyone as a whole.

Updated computer software. I was disappointed when I signed up for QuarkXPpress 4.0 only to find out PSH is only offering [version] 3.3.

one to love upon first meeting. His personality was out there, making everyone laugh."

Louise E. Hoffman, Associate Professor of Humanities taught Herner in her HUM 311 course.

"He seems to have been the sort of person who opens up to other people. My conversations with people who knew him all suggest that he inspired friendship. He hadn't been here long, but he'd made an impact," Hoffman said of Herner.

Dr. Denise G. Meister, taught Herner in EDUC 313 and EDUC 314. She said, "He had a great sense of humor. I think we'll all remember him with a big smile on his face and his motorcycle helmet under his arm. He will be sorely missed."

Dr. Cheri L. Ross, Coordinator of English and English Education, was Herner's advisor.

She remembered him this way: "He was a very bright student who possessed the qualities that would have made him a fine English teacher. I believe he would have been one of those teachers who truly make a difference in the lives of students."

Herner worked as a computer numeric control operator for Winter's High Performance Parts, York.

He is survived by his parents, Alvin J. and Marie A. Herner, at home; and a brother, John A. Herner, of Narragansett, R.I.

Funeral services were scheduled for Oct. 6 at Groff Funeral Home, Lancaster.

Yet knowing that his angel had come.
