

Reader Preference Survey	Coffee and Serial Episode 5	Campus Calendar	Police Report
page 2	page 9	page 11	page 11
Volume 41, No. 5		Monday, October 23, 2000

Club 831A Rocks

But Five Refuse to Shave

By Cathie McCormick Musser
Capital Times Editor In Chief

A little more than two weeks of stubble shows on the faces of the "shave-off" contestants, left to right: "Coach," "Ninja," "Lapinski" and "Fridge." Who will last the longest?

"Chipper/Pound"
Anthony Chuplis
Senior
Mechanical Eng.
Technology

It's common wisdom. College shouldn't be all work and no play. One group of PSH students earnestly follows this advice.

Club 831A is easily the most well

Continued on Page 3

"Coach"
Corey Metz
Senior
Mechanical Eng.
Technology

- Club 831A Roster
- Jason Anthony "J"
  - Amy Binder "Coit 45"
  - Jason Boxler "Chong"
  - Corinne Carper "Rin"
  - Mike Checkett "Check Dog"
  - Anthony Chuplis "Chipper"
  - Matt Farkas "Ninja"
  - Mike Hartley
  - John Kowker "Johnny K-Rock"
  - Corey Metz "Coach"
  - Kerry Monaco "Trooper"
  - Phil Sanecki
  - Tony Villk "Tank"
  - Jillian Wiese "Jilly"
  - Matt Williams "Lapinski"
  - Jason Zoellick "Ballarina Big J"

"Ninja"
Matt Farkas
Senior
Mechanical Eng.
Technology

"Lapinski"
Matt Williams
Senior
Mechanical Eng.
Technology

"Fridge"
Mike Hartley
Junior
Mechanical Eng.
Technology

From Beer to . . . Beer?

By Kerry Monaco
Capital Times Staff Writer

From beer to . . . beer? "It's simple," says Corey 'Coach' Metz, the mastermind behind "Can-paign 2000."

When Coach's roommate Tony, aka Tank, came home and told him to save the tabs from aluminum cans, Coach wanted to know why. Tank explained that the Bethlehem-Lukens Steel Mill was collecting these tabs for sick children. For every tab collected, a child receives one minute of kidney dialysis. This gave Coach a brilliant idea.

Coach thought that since the tabs were being saved for a good cause, why not go one step further and recycle the cans the tabs came from? The aluminum cans could then be sold and the participants rewarded with a nice prize.

Coach called all of his friends to par-

Continued on Page 3

Contractors continue installation on the second of two new boilers. Workers cut a hole in the side of the heat plant structure (right) large enough to place the new equipment onto the second floor. Beautification on the heat plant building is pending.

Photos by Cathie McCormick Musser

Warmth Returns In Time for Winter

By Cathie McCormick Musser
Capital Times Editor In Chief

Hidden among the visible improvements on campus is a change which will be felt rather than seen. The first of two new energy-efficient boilers to be installed in the PSH heat plant went on line Oct. 14.

The change in boilers would likely have gone unnoticed by the greater campus community if the weather hadn't turned unseasonably cool earlier this month. Students, faculty and staff in heavy sweaters and coats reported chilly conditions in campus buildings during the recent cold spell. Concerns prompted a broadcast voice mail from the office of business services explaining the situation.

According to Ed Dankanich, PSH director of business services, the old "dinosaur, monstrosity" boilers were removed last summer. The 1950 vintage boilers were remnants of the Air Force base and designed to heat significantly more square footage than they were

Continued on Page 4

Fund-raiser Supports Son of Deceased Alumnus

By Steven E. Moses
Capital Times Staff Writer

Members of the PSH community may remember Kevin Langsdale, a recent graduate of the electrical engineering program. A week after graduation, Kevin landed his dream job as hardware design engineer with Tollgrade in Pittsburgh. Suddenly, on June 25, Kevin, 26, suffered a brain aneurysm that claimed his life.

Kevin is survived by his 18-month-old son, Brandon, and his wife, Paula. Kevin's dedication to his family was evident in the weekly trips he made to Pittsburgh to visit his family.

Paula says that Brandon looks just like his dad, tall and skinny. Brandon was born on April 1, 1999, and has had a rough start. Two months after he was born, Brandon had hernia surgery and, one month later, underwent neurosurgery. Doctors found that Brandon's skull had

Photo courtesy of Paula Langsdale

Kevin, Brandon and Paula Langsdale pause for a photo on the day of Kevin's Penn State graduation last May.

Continued on Page 3