

"Who's Who?" PSU That's Who

Students from Penn State Hbg. Selected For "Who's Who" Recognition

The PSH Faculty Senate Student Affairs Committee has chosen 25 students to receive recognition in the 2000-2001 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities."

Dennis R. Albertson
Elementary Education

Jennifer D. Bowles
Mathematical Sciences

Jillian M. Budwash
Elementary Education

Natalie Hatrak
Mathematical Sciences

Virginia D. Henry
Secondary Education/Social Sciences

Elizabeth O. Heuer
Elementary Education

David P. Kuchera
Structural Design Engineering Technology

Mayleene A. Lugo
Structural Design Engineering Technology

Aimee K. Mastorio
Secondary Education/English

Myra J. Miller
Applied Behavioral Sciences

Katie J. Moody
Mathematical Sciences

Corina V. Morrison
Mathematical Sciences

Catherine A. (McCormick) Musser
Communications

Jeffrey D. Nichols
Structural Design Engineering Technology

Damaris Rodrigues
Mathematical Sciences

Christopher W. Rugg
Mathematical Sciences

Brian L. Russell
Elementary Education

Michele Salko
Secondary Education/Social Studies

Jacqueline S. Sludden
Elementary Education

Amber L. Smith
Elementary Education

Christopher Splinter
Structural Design Engineering Technology

Megan A. Swartz
Elementary Education

Dolores V. Wertz
Elementary Education

William J. White
Structural Design Engineering Technology

Melissa A. Wilson
Elementary Education

Dorm Construction

Continued from Page 1

ness services, admits that inclement weather will most likely delay the new dorm's opening until the summer of 2002, rather than the optimistic completion date of January next year.

Dankanich said the university is working hard to remain under the budget of $14.5 million for the housing project. The plan is to spend $11.5 million on construction and an additional $3 million for furniture, permits, cable, phone lines, etc.

The original plan called for an occupancy level of 283 residents in the structure now under construction. Since there are 356 students currently living in Meade Heights, that occupancy level created an immediate shortfall in available housing. According to Coleman, recent architectural design changes provide room for 356 students.

Dankanich reports that, as of right now, there are no plans for special rooms or living facilities for students with families. JoAnn Coleman, director of housing and food services, says there is still a possibility that these may be made available when phase two of construction begins later this year.

Opportunity Knocks

Attention:
Penn State Harrisburg
students, faculty and staff

Applications for Student Activity Funds are available in Room 200.

Applications include guidelines and explanation of seven funding categories.

Campus Activities
Program Support
Recreation
Diverse Populations and Issues
Facilities
Equipment
Selected Support Services

Explore the funding as a possible way to get support for your ideas and projects.

Hurry, Application Deadline is January 15, 2001, 5 p.m.

Questions? Call or E-mail,
Carissa Herwig, President of Student Government Association,
948-6137 (SGA Office), harmonie043@cs.com

Dr. Janet Widoff, Director of Student Affairs,
948-6018, JCW1@psu.edu