

If you controlled the federal budget, where would you allocate the most money, and why?

Survey and photos by Debra Glass
Capital Times Staff Writer

Jennifer Bennet

Communications

Education and health care.

Erica Scott

Accounting

Education, because the children are our future and without a solid educational background, it will be very hard to succeed.

Jessica White

Accounting

Education. A better-educated population will benefit the whole country.

Jon Meyers

Communications

Education. Because I feel it's important to have a framework of discipline, and my high school definitely did not provide that.

Melissa Schmidt

Sociology

Education Program. Indefinitely. The children of today will be taking care of US tomorrow.

Rick Rimel

Electrical Engineering

Sex education. More sex, less AIDS.

Students enjoy Sun/Fun Celebration

Continued from Page 1

description of personality traits.

Jacob Shwartz earned a Ph.D. in communications from Illinois State University but now works as an astrologer and tarot card reader. He explained there are 78 tarot cards divided into 22 major arcana and 26 minor arcana. Arcana describes a specialized knowledge.

Shwartz says "Every card tells a story that inspires the universe. I do not shuffle the cards. The person being read does. This is why the order of the cards is no accident. This is a story that the person needs to know."

Rebecca, an environmental engineering major, had her tarot cards read for the first time. She said many of the cards described relationships and the point where she is in her life. Some of the things were personal and made sense, but others seemed way off. "I also had my palm read and was surprised it was so dead-on! He read a line in my hand and knew everything I got in life, I had gotten on my own. I was like, where do you see that?"

Joe White had all the students laughing at themselves. Joe started doing caricatures of his students when he taught art at Thomas Edkins Cultural Art Center in Philadelphia. "I'm definitely not a natural. It just took years of practicing." On top of subcontracting these events, White also does advertising for four magazines.

Andrea Gorasi, a PSH psychology major, couldn't believe the way White captured her comedic expressions in cartoon form. "I always wanted to get a caricature of myself on the Boardwalk, but it was always fifty bucks! The fact that the school offers something fun like this for free is great!"

The Winter Sun/Fun Celebration attracted so many students, some literally had to be turned away after 2 p.m. The fantastic turnout raised the possibility that the group will be contracted for the Rites of Spring/Earth Day festivities.

The SGA will be hosting several upcoming open forums. Joe Werner, vice president of SGA and a public policy major, said there will be a Leadership Workshop held on February 10. The workshop will offer an etiquette lunch. "This will be a great chance for those students interested in becoming involved in the growing e-commerce world."

"This is a story that the person needs to know."

PSH JOB/INTERNSHIP FAIRS

REGISTER NOW!

Explore opportunities for all majors!
Interview with 125 organizations!
Start your career here!

PSH Career Services, along with a number of other colleges/universities, is co-sponsoring two Job/Intern Fairs in February. Don't miss these opportunities to speak with employers regarding full-time employment opportunities and internships.

Over 120 employers at each event!

CVC Job/Intern Fair

Thurs., Feb. 15, Frederick, MD

List of participants: <http://www.collegecentral.com/cvcjf.cfm>

CPEC Job/Intern Fair

Wed., Feb. 21, Lebanon Valley Expo, Lebanon, PA

List of participants: <http://www.messiah.edu/cpec>

PLEASE NOTE

REGISTRATION IS REQUIRED

Register in Career Services, Olmsted W117