My, oh my. What has become of the once heavy and hard rockin' L.A. Guns? Man In The Moon sounds just like every other rock album nowadays, and that's too bad since L.A. Guns used to be on the cutting edge of rock... back in the glorious '80s!

This is an all right album, it is more crossover like alternative and rap. A lot of cameos, but yet the album doesn't match up to the old school Run DMC. I would recommend burning this - - not buying it.
