Griot Lecture Series

“The Making of a Griot...Researching Your Genealogy”

Penn State Harrisburg and The African American Museum of Harrisburg, Inc. are pleased to kick off our Griot Lecture Series with Juanita Patience Moss as our keynote speaker. In her book “Created to Be Free”, she recounts how her grandfather enlisted in the 103rd Garrison in Plymouth, N.C. during the Civil War. Her goal is to have historians recognize the fact that there were other black men who served in the Civil War besides those in the United States Colored Troops, and she wants to encourage other people to begin to record their family stories before they are lost forever.
