

Fashion tips to fit your 'star quality'

There is a person that no matter how many times you want them to do something they will calmly tell you no.

This person does not hold much regard for a beggar, and therefore, the "no" will become more adamant with each plea-bargaining.

We all know somebody like this and have been exasperated by them on more than one occasion. The mental image of a stubborn so-and-so is no other than the fun loving Taurus.

It is not surprising that this particular Zodiac sign happens to be nicknamed "The Bull." The following are some easy guidelines to pick Taurus out of a crowd.

A Taurus is:

1.) The driver- Taurus is the one person out of a group of friends that volunteers to drive everywhere. This could mean anywhere from driving to State College to driving down the street to the McDonalds. Surprisingly enough, this "take charge" attitude has little to do with wanting power. It has to do with Taurus feeling the need to be the backbone of the group. This Zodiac can be counted on to hold the group together!

2.) Materialistic- Taurus is, dare it be said, CHEAP and practical, practical, practical! This sad truth cannot be denied. Most people have an urge to over indulge themselves, once in a while, with extravagant purchases. It would be fabulous if that were the case with Taurus.

However unfortunate, Taurus is like the ninety-year-old man cruising with the top down of a 2007 mustang convertible. This luxurious automobile for which Taurus has wisely saved up for many years, to live an oh-so-sweet retirement.

3) Stable- Taurus' crave comfort! They will strive to be in a steady profession and will want the cookie cutter life. This is in no way implying that Taurus' are not exciting people. In 2007, cookie cutter does not mean white picket fence. A good job, marriage, and perhaps a few kids can be far from boring these days.

Today a Taurus cannot be without the pimped out car and the enormous house on the hill. Stability also guarantees a Taurus will never be turned down for a loan because of credit problems.

The likelihood of Taurus choosing a financially prominent career is dynamic. A typical profession for a Taurus would be a banker, architect, engineer or an excellent manager of a high to-do firm.

Taurus Fashion-

An emphasis must once again be placed on the comfort level a Taurus feels is necessary for their conservative lifestyle. This theory sadly goes hand in hand with their dress, leaving for a pretty bland repertoire. To this Taurus mindset, "Comfort is amazing, if you are dressing for bed!"

The fashion world begs Taurus to wake up and vamp up the wardrobe. It happens to be a little out of control to wear a linen suit to work.

After all, being a little uncomfortable can keep one alert and accomplished at work.

Taurus' also love to mellow it out with subtle earth tones, being that Taurus is an earth sign. This is respectable because every outfit should start with a neutral base. It is also positive that Taurus does not follow trendy styles and they try to keep it classy. The sleek Audrey Hepburn look or oh so stylish GQ man, very nice Taurus—props!

However, shopping at bargain outlets and coupon clipping is weary. If one happens to come across a good deal, that's amazing. However, inexpensive items usually mean cheap fabrics. Taurus' should not settle for less than quality clothing because that is just tacky.

"A child inside everyone"—Gemini takes that standard to a higher plateau. Playfully known as "the twins," Gemini's rambunctious nature makes way for a great deal of mayhem.

Mischief is only one of the exciting qualities a Gemini possesses. They just cannot sit still for any duration of time and are forever venturing into new crazy schemes.

Any person that gets themselves involved with one of these characters is sure to end up in a lot of heartbreak.

Gemini has a reputation of bailing out of a commitment with no prior notice!

Here are some warning signs that Gemini may be coming down the street.

Gemini's are:

Commitment phobic- Gemini loves to come up with off-the-wall ideas and never follow through with them. It's frustrating because Gemini's will be convincing with their lavish idealism, but when the going gets tough, Gemini gets going!

Talkers- Gemini's don't have lifelong friends. Their changing lifestyle makes them flutter between groups of people at once, which is just as well for as much as Gemini likes to gab. Within an hour of meeting "the twins," any form of Advil is strongly recommended!

Moody- Gemini's are genuinely sweet and giving people. They strive towards the sunshine of life and run through the grass with smiles on their faces. However, give this child some rotten fruit and be prepared for the consequences.

Gemini has been known to eat many a person alive. Innocent and naive can turn to sneaky and malicious. When Gemini gets angry, the whole world hears it, as their temper tantrums exceed the highest decibel.

Gemini Fashion-

Gemini's have a fun fashion sense unique to their sign. They are extremely versatile and follow no particular mode.

Out-and-about during the daytime hours, they can be found wearing bright funky colors that they find to be exciting. Changing it for evening attire, Gemini will do a 180 degree turn in a black velvet gown with satin white gloves.

Gemini's also adore their hands, so a French manicure is a must-have! They also adorn their fingers with glitzy rings and surround their wrists with fancy bangles. Their purse fetish fills up even the largest Gemini closet.

It's hard to decipher who exactly Gemini is because their fashion fixation has no boundaries. Cher one day, Marilyn Monroe the next. One thing is set in stone—Gemini's surely aren't boring.
