On Tuesday, Jan. 20, Barack Hussein Obama was sworn in as the 44th president of the United States.

On this blustery January day Washington D.C., a city familiar with national celebrations saw, according to the Wall Street Journal, about two million people crowd on to the Capitol lawn and National Mall in hopes of catching a glimpse of the first African American president.

This event was documented as being the most expensive inauguration to date. Being reported by the New York News at an estimate cost of $100.6 million, in a country where there is a recession.

Many came to witness this historical event first hand feeling it was a fulfillment of Martin Luther King's "I have a dream" speech.

Obama said in his speech, "This is the price and the
