The Capital Times is published biweekly by the students of Penn State Harrisburg and is funded with Student Activity Fee money. Viewpoints are solely those of the authors and are not representative of the college administration, faculty or student body.

editor's comments

The first issue of the semester is an unpredictable one. Considering the variables of what could go wrong as a first time Editor in Chief, what's the worst that could happen? Right? Well luckily, this semester we have a group of wonderful hard-working student writers and an awesome editorial staff who is willing to take charge and do what it takes to improve this paper.

I guess this is where I should introduce myself. My name is Jenna DeNoyelles and I'm the new editor of The Capital Times.

More importantly, here is the new crew. We have some new faces, we have some old faces, but most importantly we share the same goal in trying to deliver the students and faculty of this fine campus with the best student run paper possible.
