Want to do more for you and the campus on EARTH DAY?

When: April 22

The Conservation Committee will be starting an herb garden on the east side of Olmstead outside Town Square. The herbs grown here might be used in Stacks next year! The objective is to make our food more localized, which reduces the use of pesticides in our produce and decreases the fuel use involved with produce transportation.

There is a Christian Fellowship club on campus!

When: Wednesdays at 5:15 p.m. in the Community Center Conference Room.

New from the Library

The Penn State Harrisburg Library has recently acquired Transparent Language software through the generous support of Alex Hartzler LIB '91, an alumnus of the College of the Liberal Arts and a donor to Penn State Harrisburg.

The Transparent Language software is now available at the circulation desk and may be used by all Penn State Harrisburg students, faculty, and staff. The following languages are available: Arabic, Chinese, French, German, Italian, Japanese, Polish, Russian, and Spanish. The software is designed to introduce basic vocabulary and grammar and to model the use of each language in a natural context.
