American Presbyterian and Gemesee Evangelist. 1861. 111 It is scarcely questioned that this provision was intended, by those who made it, for the reclaiming of what we call fugitive slaves, and the intention of the law giver is the law. All members of Congress swear their support to the Constitution—to this provision as muchlas to any other. To the 'proposition', then, that slaves whose cases come within the terms of this clause, and "shall be delivered up," their oaths are unanimous. Early in the session, the question of our Presbyterial Domestic Missions came up for discussion under the report of the Presbyterial Committee, setting clared objects for ordaining and establishing the Consti-traion was to form a more perfect Union; but if the destruction of the Union by one or by a part only of the States be lawfully possible, the Union is less than before the Constitution, having lost the vital element of perpendity. It follows from these views that no State upon its own mere motion can lawfully get out of the Union, and that resolves or ordinances to that effect are legally void, and that acts of violence with houses, where the people are in anxiety about their souls' salvation. I would rather send among them a Wesleyan Methodist, with all his Arminianism, than I would'send among them a sturdy, square built Calvinist, who is so straight laced in the rigidities of his system, that he cannot preach a free gospel to every creature." forth the condition and needs of our entire field. It was seen at once that the American Home Missionary Society, with which our body are in co-operation, in good faith, had by the action of the last "new rule" very materially changed the aspect of this question to us-leaving, according to their own Interpretations, accompanying each of the late com-missions, five missionary brethren very soon with no reliable means of support, at least for a time. Our brethren looked this question fairly in the face, and resolved, after much deliberation to contract the face and the face and the face and the state of the face and the face suggestion of Secretary Coe, which was to take early collections in our churches over the whole field, and apply them directly to cancel the obligations of the Society to our brethren there, sending their receipts down to New York. But this will be a Herculean work, unless, from the Society or elsewhere, we shall secure some aid. From our three or four self-supporting churches, and those all small, we must raise sister cities, but those of New York, though fewer, the sum of six hundred dollars and upwards. Rev. Joseph T. Sutton has tendered his resignaof the pastorate of the First Church in Parsippany, New Jersey, on account of ill-health. He is now stopping at Romeo, Mich., at which place he may be addressed until further notice.

North Church, N. Y .- It will be gratifying to our readers to learn that this church, under the care of Rev. Dr. Hatfield, has been enjoying for several weeks a gentle refreshing from the presence of the Lord. There has been no excitement, and no special effort except that prompted by an unusual spirit of prayer in the church. There has been no preaching before, to his regular two sermons on the Sabbath. The only addition to the services during the week has been an increase in the meetings for prayer, which have been very fully attended, and have been marked with much solemnity. As the fruit of this awakened interest, twenty-one persons were added to the church by profession Sabbath before last. The meetings are still continued with unabated interest. -Evangelist.

The Inauguration .- The machinations of the enemies of order have been unsuccessful, and, by the grace of God, Abraham Lincoln has ascended to the chief seat of power in this nation unharmed. Whatever causes of disquiet yet remain, this great and dreaded crisis is past, and all parties feel relieved, and breathe freely. For our own part, we believe it s the beginning of better days to the country. The day of tolerating traitors at the seat of government is ver. The abettors of anarchy may no longer lift their heads in the presence of the successor of Wash-ington. The dignity of the government, its divine right, will be maintained, and the most sacred of the social instincts of men will no longer be ignored o profaned. At two o'clock, P. M., after a progress except by the pastor, who has confined himself as through the city, as imposing and enthusiastic as it was peaceful, the Capitol was reached by the cortege, where Mr. Lincoln delivered the following

ADDRESS.

Fellow-citizens of the United States :

In compliance with a custom as old as the govern ment itself. I appear before you to address you briefly, and to take, in your presence, the eath prescribed by the Constitution of the United States to be taken by the President before he enters on the execution of his office.

I do not consider it necessary at present for me to discuss those matters of administration about which there is no special anxiety or excitement.
