"But my son was not one of those," said she, interrupting me. "He was born with a hot, kery temper. It used to frighten me almost, when he was nothing but a baby, and I hardly dared to think what would become of him when he grew older. I prayed a great deal about it, and talked, and labored to help him to overcome his naughty, passionate spirit. And he began very early to try to govern himself. I recollect, when he was not more than four years old, he had been very much provoked about something, and I could see the fire kindling in his eye and the color rising in his cheek. But he kept very still until his anger had subsided. and then he came running to me, threw his arms around my neck, and bursting into tears, he cried, 'Kiss me, mamma-kiss me -I've overcome.'

"That's beautiful!" I exclaimed. "Many a time," the mother continued,

"have I seen him struggle with his hasty, angry feelings, until by degrees it grew easier for him to control his temper; and now I can truely say I believe, by the grace of God, he has conquered himself. And among the qualifications for good soldiership, that is one of the very best, I think."

wered Mary. "Was that a lie?" "You tried to make me think that you considered it the smaller," replied her moth er, "and that you were acting very generously to take it. That was a double sin. You were selfish and deceitful too. You were a hypocrite." "What is that mamma ?"

"A hypocrite is one who tries to make other people think he is better than he really is. Sometimes he succeeds in deceiving others, and sometimes not, but he never succeeds in deceiving God. You didn't succeed in deceiving me to-day, for I saw through it all. And, Mary, what do you think God thought of your conduct ?"

"I don't know," said Mary, beginning to look more troubled.

"And in addition to the selfishness and the hypocrisy, you really told a lie," added her mother, "or rather you didn't speak the truth, for you said, ' Wasn't that the smallest piece ?' Now, God was looking right into your heart, and he saw just what you thought. He saw that you did not speak the truth in your heart. Oh, my dear child, I can not tell you how much displeased he is with such wickedness. If you are a hypocrite and a deceiver, you can never go to heaven. There is a passage in the Bible I want you to learn to-morrow, Mary." So in the morning before breakfast, Mary got the little Bible, and her mother found these verses : "Lord, who shall abide in thy tabernacle? Who shall dwell in thy holv hill ? He that walketh uprightly, and worketh righteousness, and speaketh the truth in his heart."-Ibid.

ployment to his pupils, so that there will be rare occasion for those two very little, but to children very irritating words, "must not." tion thus :

A child: once said, "I like very well to be told what to do by those who are fond of me. but never to be told what not to do; and the pore fond they are of me, the less I like it; ecause, when they tell me what to do, they give me an opportunity of pleasing them; but when they tell me what not to do, it is a sign I have displeased, or am likely to displease them." 白白 常語医傳

There are many good people most anxious to teach their children aright, who crowd their path with prohibitions, but seldom hold out a hand to help them, or point out to them the steps they may safely take. And while they are always teaching them hat they must not break the Sabbath, wiser arents are teaching their children how they ay keep it pleasantly and profitably. The Sabbath is to the former a day on which they must not play with their balls, carts, and so on; a day on which they must not work in their garden, must not read storyoks. To the latter it is a day on which y may sing hymns with mother, on which may hear father read stories out of the so long as they please; on which they seek out answers to questions, and have ernment is now involved is not for its own may seek out answers to questions, and have longer talks with father and mother about all their little trials and faults; on which they get more comfort and help than any other day on the week. To them it is a day of privileges; to others a day of prohibitions. There is great danger of making children feel that religion is a system of "must nots." It is very right to tell children that they this exigency. In laying himself upon the "must not" quarrel with each other, "must not" be anxious to keep everything to them-selves, must never be glad to bring others into disgrace, must never tell tales of each other's faults; but we might draw a bright and pleasing picture of the pleasure of being kind, of the happiness of making another happy, or of being of use to a little brother,

GENTLEMEN:--We have recovered the Herring's Patent Champion Safe, of your make. which we bought from you nearly five years ago, from the ruins of our building, No. 716 Chestnut street, which was entirely Jestroyed by fire on the morning of the 17th inst. So rapid was the progress of the flames, before we could reach the store, the whole interior was one mass of fire. The Safe being in the back part of the store, and surrounded by the most combustible materials, was exposed to great heat. It fell with the walls of, that part of the building into the cellar, and remained im-bedded in the ruins for more than thirty hours. The Safe was opened this morning in the presence of a number of gentlemen, and the contents, comprising our books, bills, receivable money, and a large amount of valuable papers, are all safe; not a thing was touched by fire. quality. 1535.615 For $3 50, a No. 6 Pen, 1st quality.
