WHEREAS, by his untiring industry, his dent zeal, his earnest love, his self-sacrificit devotion in the service of Christ in every sphe of labor in which he was engaged, he had endeared himself to us, and left us such an e ample of his worth, it is proper that we should place on our record a tribute of our love.

Jackson, the capital of the State has again faller into our hands, but the rebel Johnson, we are sorry to say has escaped capture. The investment of the out orders it is said, by Gen. Lauman, costing us three hundred killed and wounded. Gen Lauman has been released of his command. Gen. Sherman continued to press Johnson, throwing shells into the city and destroying a large portion of it. While pushing out his lines with a view to capture Johnson the latter escaped by swimming his forces over Pearl River. This was on the night of the 16th. Sherman says that most of his men must perish from heat, lack preach a sermon commemorative of the life and of water and general discouragement. Gen. Sherman's Head Quarters are at Jackson. Some of the army have been sent back to Vicksburg. The rebel army at Vicksburg have to a great extent deserted, and scattered over the country in every direction .--Eight steamers left on the 6th, for Natchez, having on board 1,200 soldiers under command of General Ransom. On his arrival he captured five rebel officers crossing the river. He captured a battery of nine guns, four of which are 10-pound Parrots. He then marched back into the country nine miles, and captured 277 boxes of ammunition and nine more guns. The rebels fled in consternation. On returning to Natchez, he found 5000 head of Texan cattle and 9000 hogsheads of sugar, all of which he took possession of in the name of the United States. On the 8th, two steamboats, arrived from New Orleans, via Port Hudson, bringing up 2.300 paroled rebel prisoners. Two steamers left on the 8th for New Orleans with large loads of cattle, and three more for

The correspondent of a New York paper says: All those in the return train present at the Cabin Creek fight unite in praising the daring courage of our troops in crossing the stream under the enemy's fire. The intention of the revolutionists appears to have been to spare the life of RADAMA. But he insisted upon his absolute power, refused to give any guaran-tee that the rebel chiefs would be pardoned, and threatened all who opposed him with severe punishment. "This led the nobles to determine that it was not safe for him to live, and he died by their hands the next morning within the palace. The fanatics were afterwards put to death." Such is the way in which the children of nature, reduced to perplexity, cut the Gordian knots of a political situation.

Mr. Ellis has confidence in the new regime and believes that neither the intercourse with foreigners nor the toleration of Christianity will be interfered with. "Our missionary prospects," he writes, "seem to rest on a better foundation than ever."

The Boston Watchman, under the head of "Sum mer Religion," remarks:

" A kind of religiousness exists in many churches which is dissipated by summer heats, and becomes in-visible and impalpable, but crystallizes again into its old forms on the approach of Winter. It could hardly endure the fires of martyrdom, for all vitality is lost before the coming of the dog days. It for-sakes the meetings in the Summer months, finds a single service on the Sabbath burdensome, and throws off all restraints in excursions to the country. It disbands Sabbath Schools, shuts up churches, and never looks for a revival in the summer solstice It is an appalling fact that many professing Chris-tians lay aside all religious activity at the incoming Summer, and seem to consider spiritual sloth an in-evitable result of bodily relaxation.

The Secretary says that it gave him great pleasure to be the means of circulating the Scriptures either to friend or foe.

dispatch : After chasing Morgan nearly 500 miles, I at last met him on the river at this point, and engaged and drove him back, capturing two of his pieces of artillery. He abandoned the rest to Gen. Judah. The enemy broke in confusion from the banks, and left his wagon train, many horses and small arms, in my possession. Since writing the above I followed further up the river, and met another portion of Morgan's force fording about nineteen miles above .--I shelled and drove most of them back, killed several, and wounded twenty-five or thirty, and captured twenty more horses." -- The capture of the remainder is thus announced by Gen. Shackelford : dated Geiger's Creek, July 20, 9 P. M. "We chased John Morgan and his command over fifty miles to-day .--After heavy skirmishing for over six or seven miles, between the 45th Ohio, of Col. Wolford's brigade, which was in advance, and the enemy; we succeeded in bringing him to a stand about three o'clock this afternoon, when a fight ensued, which lasted an hour. The rebels then fled, taking refuge upon a exceeded, as in duty bound, considering the great re- very high bluff. I sent a flag of truce demanding

Fnom Rebel Sources. The retreat of Lee, and capture of Vicksburg, and the attack on Charleston, have thrown the rebel states and authorities into such alarm as they never before experienced. Jeff. Davis has issued a proclamation calling out the entire force of fighting men between 18 and 45. This proclamation appears in the Richmond Enquirer of July 18th from which we quote two paragraphs.

"And whereas, in my judgment the necessities of the Confederate States, all white men residents of said States. between the ages of eighteen and forty- dren, on hand and for sale, at No. 806 Market street, Phila. five years, not legally exempted from military service ; and I do hereby order and direct that all persons subject to this call and not now in the military service, do, upon being enrolled, forthwith repair to the conscript camps established in the respective States of which they may be residents, under pain of being held and punished as deserters in the event of their failure to obey this, as provided in said laws."

On Lee's Retreat and the Fall of Vicksburg the Whig of the 9th says: The intelligence from Gen. Lee falls short of the promise of the dispatches published yesterday, and will prove a grievous disappointment to the high wrought hopes of the public. Superadded to the calamity at Vicksburg, it casts a sombre shadow over our affairs. What is most to be feared as the immediate result of the fall of Vicksburg is the conversion of the great army under Gen. Grant from a stationary into a moving force. From its organization, almost, it has been confined to the work of taking that city.¹¹ It is now free to operate elsewhere. This is the evil against which the government is now called to make the most energetic pre-

Important Expeditions in North Carolina and Virginia.—The Petersburg Express of the 22d, in referring to the calvary expedition sent out by Gen. Foster in North Carolina, says: "The Yankee raiders burned the railroad bridge over the Tar river, near Rocky Mount, destroyed the depot at that place; tore up two miles of the track, burned 5000 bales of cotton, and a large cotton factory. The bridge over the Tar river was on the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad, and was about 300 yards long. They also captured a train of cars which contained two car loads of ammunition and 30,000 pounds of bacon, which were destroyed. Col. Toland, of the 34th Ohio Mounted Infantry, and Col.
