Great Britain .- The Daily News says :

The Fourth of July will henceforth be as memorable in the military anals of the American Union as it already is in the political history of the people. It will be the anniversary of a double victory for the Union arms at the most critical centres of military activity in the East and the West. On the 4th of July Vicksburg surrendered to the Union forces under Gen. Grant, and the morning of the same day saw the invading army of the Confederates, under Gen. Lee, in full retreat toward the Potomac. It is certainly a singular and striking coincidence that on the same day, and that, too, a day so memorable in American history, the great Confederate stronghold of the Mississippi should have fallen, and the great Confederate invasion of the North have been abandoned as a failure. Reply of Gortschakoff to the Note of the Four Powers.—The tenor of this reply, dated July 1st, since it has been divulged, is seen to be far from conciliatory. The Prince denies the right of the Powers to intervene in the affairs of Russia under the treaty of 1815, declines to enter into a Congress upon the affairs of Poland, and refuses to grant an amnesty.

He denies that the adoption of the measures proposed by Great Britain would pacify Poland permanently; complains of the material and moral assistance obtained from abroad by the insurgents, of the calumnies against Russian soldiers in circulation, and asserts that "wherever the armed rebellion has striven to acquire subsistence, to give itself a visible head, it has been crushed." He says the insurrection is not sustained by the masses, but principally by foreign elements. It is "a stage display, intended to act upon Europe" Diplomatic intervention is its only hope. The Czar will deal with the rebellion energetically. There can be no cessation of hostilities on his part until the insurgents throw down their arms and surrender to imperial clemency. This reply is deemed so unsatisfactory that ulterior measures are believed to be in progress and the aspect of affairs is deemed threatening. Ticket-of-Leave-Men, i, e., British convicts of outrageous character, part of whose term of imprisonment is remitted on condition of their abandoning the country, have arrived in considerable numbers at New York. It is believed that some of them played a prominent part in the late riots. Two peculiarly hard characters were taken in custody upon their arrival in New York, both of whom testified that their fare to this country had been paid in England, in one case by the Government stself.

Advices to July 29th state that the rebel loan fell 18 to 20 per cent. in view of the late reverses. It rallied again to 13 per cent discount. American se curities were from 5 to 9 per cent. better. The London Times acknowledges, with a chastened moderation, that, on the whole, it is seldom that intelligencn has been received so gloomy to the rebel cause. Advices are via Queenstown to Aug. 2d. The rebel loan was heavy at 17 to 15 discount. There had been a panic on the Polish affairs but it had subsided The Army and Navy Gazette takes a most gloomy view of the military prospects of the Confederates. It says the retreat of General Bragg and the flight of General Johnson before General Sherman's forces show sufficient signs of exhaustion. It adds :-"Charleston is in real danger, and if its falls Savanah follows." Still it thinks that the Federal armies cannot be filled without a conscription which may palsy the North and wrest victory from her grasp. U. S. Christian Commission, - Cash Acknow ledgments to July 31st, 1863 :
