WM. H. SEWARD, Secretary of State.

East Tennessee and Georgia.—The siege of Knoxville was raised December 4th, General Sherman having arrived with reinforcements from Chattanooga on the day previous. Longstreet's line of retreat according to the dispatches, was towards Bristol, via the Morristown Railroad to Richmond, and south from Bristol. His retreat is made both on the north and south banks of the Holston river, Foster's cavalry following him on Longtreet is in full retreat up the valley. Your orders about following with cavalry shall be carried out. My division of cavalry attacked the enemy's cavalry in one of the passes of the Clinch mountains yesterday afternoon, and are pushing them vigor-

PROCLAMATION. EXECUTIVE MANSION, Washington, Dec. 7th, 1863. Reliable information being received that the insurgent force is retreating from East Tennessee, under circumstances rendering, it probable that the Union forces cannot hereafter be disloged from that important position, and esteeming this to be of high National consequence, I recommend that all loyal people do, on the receipt of this, informally assemble at their respective places of worship, and render special homage and gratitude to Almighty God for this great advancement of the National ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

The news from Tennessee, says the Louisville dispatch Sept. 7th:

"Is really glorious. Longstreet has abandoned the siege of Knoxville, and is getting himself into Virginia as fast as possible. Our cavalry are said to be in close pursuit of the rebels. A large batch of prisoners was captured yesterday at Clinch river General Sherman has arrived at Knoxville."

A Cincinnati despatch, December 8th says: Hardee is slowly falling back from Dalton, with Bragg's whipped men. The mountains of East Tennessee are filled with rebels deserters and stragglers. 2130 Chattanooga prisoners passed through Indianapolis yesterday, bound for Rock Island; 1200 more are expected there to day. 131 rebel officers, mostly of Breckinridge's corps, also passed through, bound for Johnson's Island.

powerful address. The steamer Cheaspeake, plying between New York and Portland, was seized on Saturday Dec., 5th, when of Cape Cod by the passengers, sixteen secessionists in disguise, who shot the engineers, and placing the captain and crew in irons, seized the ship as a prize to the Confederate States. The captain and crew were subsequently sent ashore in a boat, and when last seen the Chespeake was taking coal from a vessel she had captured. She is not a fast ship. Several vessels were put on her track.
