by heart what I could not read; an old | was offered in six languages. It was a charmwoman seventy-nine years old. You don't know how bad it hurt me. I could'nt keep the tears from coming, and I thought I could never come again. But then I said to my-Bible, and went off into the woods where no one could hear me, and I picked them out afterward, and got to read them, and I is so proud that I can do it."'

I will know them too. So I took my blad imbrued their hands in each other's blood. Now they are of one heart and one mind—Christ's brethren!"

MADAGASCAR.—The organ of the London Missionary Society, for January, says:—

Missionary Lutelligence.

DACOTAH.—Dr. Williamson writes from Davenport, Iowa, January 25th:-"I suppose as many readers and writers have been made among the prisoners, in less than two years, as were made by our mission in the twenty-seven previous years, and more converts; and having received a deeper baptism of the Holy Spirit, they will probably be more active in spreading the gospel among their people than our previous converts."

Africa.—Du Chaillu, the celebrated explorer of West Africa, has given the missionaries of the American Board at the Gaboon, certain premises at a place called Cama, where a laborer, a native we presume, has been stationed, who is reported as doing well. Mr. Grout of the Zulu mission, sends to the Herald an account of the recent calm and comforting death of one of the most prominent of the native converts who had been a member for thirteen years.

Mr. Grout, in a review of thirty years' missionary labors among the Zulus, says that for eleven years he worked without a particle of success, yet without a doubt as to his own call and mission. "At length, in 1845, eleven years after we had embarked in our work, I had the pleasure of baptising my first convert. My present station is the fourth one I had selected and built upon, having been driven away from the other three. Now, at the end of thirty years, I find my self at a mission station which has seventy-three members in the church, in good standing, who are a part of a Sabbath congregation numbering two hundred and fifty; one hundred and forty-five of whom are Sabbath school scholars, and sixty-eight of whom are day school scholars." He would not exchange places now with the most gifted of his class-

CHINA.—Mr. Vrooman, missionary of the American Board at Canton, writes, October American Board at Canton, writes, October 6th, that he was making an excursion up the North River, and had reached Shau Chau Fu, a city over 250 miles from Canton, preaching and distributing books on the route. He says:—"I meet men almost every day who recognize me and call me by name, having seen me at our chapel in Canton. Such men uniformly treat me as a friend, or at least as one in whom they feel some interest. Perhaps I take too favorable a view of the character of these country people. I do not believe that they are by nature any more prone to evil than the people of New York or New England, and not so much so as many in the older States of Europe. There is no danger that labor expended here will be lost because the race is fading away. The world does not furnish a more vigorous stock of human beings than are to be found among these hills and on these rivers. As I write, my mind rests on an old man in a boat near us, who has his great-grand-child near him, and large enough to labor, yet the great-grand-father is still hale and active. Such cases are not rare."

The people have generally come to regard the admission of foreigners and the toleration of the new religion in the Empire as a settled matter. Says Mr. Vrooman:—"The great battle for the entrance of God's truth openly and undisquisedly into China, was fought and won at Canton. This fact is recognized by the people here, and opposition as a systematic thing, has ceased; though individuals and small local clans, under the influence of some evil-minded man, may still, as in America, oppose the spread of the truth. The battle fought here has opened the Empire for the introduction of the gossel, but pire for the introduction of the gospel; but in no other part of the Empire, so far as I the balance: can learn, do the people feel so clearly as here, that there is to be no more systematic opposition to it, and to the freedom of in-tercourse with foreigners. I have abundant evidence of this every day.

"I would like to take some of the wise men that have written about China, and let them see a little of the country and a few of the people, after which, if they thought proper, they might write that, 'China is a good place to leave;' but I think no sensible man would understandingly write it. China is by no means perfect; if it were so, my work would be elsewhere; but it is a grand country. It is emphatically a missionary field—a field in which a golden harvest of souls will be reaped ere long for the Saviour, if the churches do their the difficulty in our planting a mission here, it we had men to work it. There is evidence, which grows more clear every day, that the south of China is the more hopeful field, notwithstanding the rush of men to the north.

The Canton mission of the Presbyterian Board reports the accession of eight members to the church during the year, of whom seven were received by profession of their faith. The Ningpo mission reports the addition of fifteen new members to the church in Ningpo and twenty-six to the church in Yuyiao during the year. These churches have been divided, making four churches, and having 177 members.

At Ningpo they have now the happiness of being aided in their work by a choice company of native brethren-two ordained ministers, several licentiate preachers, teachers, &c. Lately, efforts have been made to employ Christian women to visit their country women in their homes.

PERSIA.—Several young men, natives, were ordained to the work of the gospel ministry among the Nestorians, at Oroomiah, October 3d. To show the extraordinary difference between the West and the East, in the matter of travelling, Dr. Wright syas that on his return journey from the United States last summer, he reached Trebizond 7000 miles from New York, in twenty-five days of voyage and travel, while the remaining distance to Oroomiah, 600 miles, occupied thirty-three travelling days.

TURKEY.—It is believed that the late persecution of Turkish converts, which has entirely ceased, will turn out to the furtherance

Mr. Herrick writes from Constantinople, December 15, "Information from various points in the interior shows, contrary to our fears, that this violent and public action of Government has rather strengthened than weakened the cause of Protestantism throughout the country. VAN LENNEP, of Smyrna, represents the work there as encouraging, speaks of in-teresting meetings during the week of prayer, and reports a somewhat serious case of perse cution by the people at Magnesia, with prompt and correct action by government officials, so that the result is likely to be good.

INDIA.-A Baptist missionary reports, August 17th, receiving the first convert from the Paloungs, an influential tribe living at the far north-east, near China, who subsist by the cultivation of tea. "In the evening we had a prayer-meeting. The representatives of eight races or tribes were present, and prayer Prices. 25 cents, 50 cents, and Missionary Society, for January, says:-Amidst the evident progress and advancing strength of Christianity we are glad to state that the Queen and her Government, although patrons of heathenism, nevertheless honorably uphold the rights and privileges of the native Christians.

ITEMS.—The income of the American Board, for January, was $39,044.40. Total from September, $147,469.10. Missionary work in Abyssinia is at a stand still. The Scotch missionaries have been released from confinement, but are closely watched. Messrs. Stern and Rosenthal, of the London Messrs. Stern and Rosenthal, of the London Society, who have been variously tortured, are still in confinement.—The native Hindoos say to the Christions:—"Your religion is going up; ours is going down. India will be all Christian some day."—Three missionaries have recently been sent to North China by the American Board.

disposition exercising great influence in the community.

Most faithfully did he fulfill the injunction of the Apostle—"Beloved, if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another." He was atike the friend and counsellor of the young, the middleaged, and the old; ready to simoth the rough places in life's journey by his assistance and advice; always more careful for the welfare and happiness of others than for his own comfort and ease. Bereaved of his children at a stroke, he kissed the rod that smote him, and gave to God and God's people, all the rich affection which had clustered around them and it was enough that one claimed an interest in our common Muster to obtain a share in his sympathies and regard. Men of all Christian denominations loved him, confided in him, and advised with him, and none had reason to regret that they had so placed their confidence.

His reproofs, when needed, were not withheld, but they were like the "words of a friend," given in love, not in anger. THE DIGEST WITH JOHN HUSS, OR THE HISTORY OF DOCTRINE, OR GILLETT'S HISTORY.-For a club of ten paying club rates in advance, we will send, post-paid, both the DIGEST and JOHN HUSS, or SHEDD'S HISTORY, OF GILLETT'S HISTORY, as may be preferred.

they were like the "words of a friend," given in love, not in anger.

It is well in these days of lax morality to note the mercantile honesty of this servant of Christ. In his early life he was unfortunate in business, and became involved beyond his means of payment. Many years afterwards, by prudence and economy, he became possessed of property, and his first employment of these means was the payment of his debts, with principal and interest.

The last years of his life were spent with one of his nearest connections. Dr. Klmer, of Bridgeton. He gradually failed under the burden of years. Within a few months, he was deeply affected by the death of one of his dearest relatives, the friend of his arriest youth—others whom he greatly esteemed followed in quick succession, and after a short, severe illness, he passed calmly and trustfully to his heavenly home. His life, like that of the beloved apostle, was a record of Caristian affection and sympathy. He sleeps in Jesus, and his memory is precious on! how precious to those who remain.

Perry Bavis's Vegetable Pain Killer.

Died, in this city, on Thursday, 16th of February, 1865, Mrs. Sarah Moore, in the 85th year of his age.

The death of this venerable and venerated Christian woman, demands a more extended notice than that of its mere announcement. Sixty years a.c., she made a profession of faith in Christ, in the Second Presbyterian Church, of Philadelphia, under the pastorate of Dr. Green. Fifty one years ago she united with other members of the Second Church, in the organization of the First Presbyterian Church in the Northern Liberties, and the settlement of its first Pas or, the Rev. James Patterson. Through this long period of more than half a ceasury, she gave to each of the four past or, whom the First Church in the Liberties has settled, her confidence, affection, support, prayer. When past fourscore, she was an example to many in punctuality of attendance on the services of the sanctuary, and in interest for the posperity of Caristis kingdom. As might have been anticipated from the consistent, exemplary life of Mrs. Moore, her end was peace. "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord." We ask the attention of the public to this long tested and unrivalled family medicine.

The PAIN KILLER is, by universal consent, allowed to have won for itself a reputation unsurpassed in the history of medicinal preparations. Its instantaneous effect in the entire eradication and extinction of pain, in all its various forms incidental to the human family, and the unsolicited written and verbal testimony of the masses in its favor, have been, and

MARRIAGES.

DEATHS.

OBITUARY.

Died, in Birdgeton, N. J., on the 5th of February, MATTHEW KEAN, in the 83d year of his age.

For the glory of God, it is well to take more than ordinary note of the death of a believer, who through a long life has adorned the gospel of Christ, and has been eminently useful in the position in which he was placed. Had Matthew Kean died young, his memoir might have been written as an instance of early piety, but living as he did to an advanced age, his youth was only a fit preparation for a life of usefulness, and of faithful witness bearing for the cause of the Re, deemer.

of faithful witness bearing for the cause of the Re, deemer.

Born of highly respectable parentage, his father a Colonel in the Revolutionary army, of noble presence and character, but not of personal piety, his mother a deveted Christian, of a family whose simple and unostentatious goodness has been remarked by all who have known them; he was early and faithfully instructed in the truth, and by his filial regard and respect for his parents, and his strict attention to the services of God's house, proved even when a child that these instructions were not in vain. He united with Dr. Green's church, in Philadelphia, while living there as a clerk in a mercantile house.

He soon after returned to Detaware, and in 1818 was elected elder in Hanover Street Church. Here and in New Castle, where he resided for about twenty years, as Recorder of Deeds, he spent the most of his life, active in every good word and work, a "live man" in the church, and by his affectionate an I genial disposition exercising great influence in the community.

Most faithfully did he fulfill the injurction of the THE CHILD AT HOME: An Exceedingly Beautiful Illustrated Paper for LITTLE FOLKS.
