THE POPE EXPECTANT.

"Cardinal D'Andrea is opposed to Pope Pius IX, and may be elected Pope at no distant day. His liberal sentiments, therefore, are a most significant phenomenon. He is said to be an intelligent, independent man, well educated, wealthy, and of fine manners. He lives at Naples, under the protection of the Italian government, and by his liberal course deeply irritates the Pope and Antonelli."

So say the papers, Cardinal D'Andrea may or may not be the next Pope, but we venture the prediction that, should he become such, he will turn into the same dried-up relic of medievalism in every thing which concerns religious enlightenment, or consciousness of the real state of things in the world, which have characterized his predecessors. Pius IX. came to the Papal throne with the reputation of a man of liberal views-one who would at least imagine a possibility that some six or eight centuries might develope something fit to be learned. His administration started off with a flourish of trumpets for the new era of liberalism at the Vatican, but what is he now? Just what the next Pope will be, and the next, and the next, until the world is sufficiently tired of the system of which such a race of imbeciles is the inevitable outgrowth, to withdraw from it the political importance without which it would long since have been a cast-off abomination.

An English View of Mr. Lincoln's ARACTER.—The London Spectator says: here is something in that steady bovine sistence, that resolve so iron that it caneven bend to make phrases, which is intely impressive to spectators, which in the th must create, more even than defeat in field, a sense of the hopelessness of the test. You may face any man, however erior in strength, but the bravest will not dup to the locomotive. The President ot boast, shows no hate, indulges in no of triumph over the "steady advance of armies," threatens no foreign power, es no prophesies of speedy succes the people with no assurances of a Utopian e; but, as if impelled by a force other his own will, slides quietly, but irresist-along the rails. DEATHS.

OBITUARY OF AN ELDER.

Died, in St. George's, Delaware, on the 19th of December, 1864, Mr. John McWhorters, Elder in the Presbyterian Church, and Trustee of the congregation for the last thirty years.

Mr. McWhorter lived on a farm in the neighborhood of the church, and in this church he made a profession of religion on the 19th of November, 1831, under the pastoral labors of Rev. James C. How. Mr. McWhorter was one of twenty-four who professed their faith in Jesus at that time.

On the 26th of July, 1834, he was elected Elder of the church, and shortly afterward a Trustee of the congregation, and in these offices he served the congregation, and in these offices he served the church and congregation faithfully until his death.

Mr. McWhorter was a man of unobtrusive but consistent piety, of quiet, mild, and generous disposition, and he seemed ever to wish to serve his church, his neighbors, and his fellow-men. The cause of his country was very dear to his heart, and at the commencement of the struggle, he threw himself with determination upon the side of the Goverament, and imbued his family with his own sentiments. Two of his sons have served their country in the field, and all of them are ready to defend the principles of their honored father.

The death of Mr. McWhorter was very sudden. It was preceded by no disease, but at three o'clock on Monday morning the Angel of Death awoke him from his slumbers, and at five o'clock he took him to the land for which he had been so long preparing, leaving an affectionate widow, a large family of sons and daughters to mourn his departure.

His funeral sermon was preached at his house, by his pastor, from Rev. xiv. 13, "I heard a voice from Heaven, saying unto me, Write, Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth; Yea, saith their works do follow them."

45 Perry Davis's Vegetable Pain Killer We ask the attention of the public to this long tested and unrivalled family medicine.

The PAIN KILLER is, by universal consent, alowed to have won for itself a reputation unsurpassed in the history of medicinal preparations. Its instan-taneous effect in the entire cradication and extinction of pain, in all its various forms incidental to the human family, and the unsolicited written and verbal testimony of the masses in its favor, have been, and are, its own best advertisement.

Prices, 25 cents, 50 cents, and $1 per bottle. A To our Lady Friends in the Churches in Philadelphia and elsewhere.—The Ladies 404 WALNUT STREET of the First Presbyterian Church of Manayunk take he liberty of soliciting your kind co-operation in 75 00 Fair, which they intend to hold, to commence on EASTER MONDAY, April 17, 1865.

The proceeds of the Fair are to be appropriated toward making necessary repairs and improvements in our Church-building. The roof is decayed; we have no basement for Sabbath-school or prayer meetings—having to use the audience chamber for these purposes; and our building is so uncomfortable that in cold weather the attendance at public worship is materially affected. We are now laboring to remedy this state of things.

To accomplish the necessary work, $3000 or $4000 nust be raised by us. We cleared over $1200 at our Fair last Easter—without resorting to lotteries, &c.
Will you be so kind as to contribute an article or articles for our Fair? At our last Fair articles of clothing for children and adults, were in much greater demand than we could supply. The following named ladies have generously con-sented to receive and take charge for us of whatever you may please to contribute in articles or in

For the Ladies.

To the Ladies.

As they prevailed some fifty years ago;
• At least that phase of fashion which conveys Hints of those instruments of torture—stays! And then compare the old, complex machine, With that which in these modern days is seen: No more by steel and whalebone is the chest, Or side, or liver, terribly compressed; No more are curving ribs, or waving spine, Twisted and tortured out of Beauty's line ; For skill and science both unite to show How much of health to dress do women owe.

In Mrs. SHERMAN'S CORSETS, ladies find The laws of Health with Fashion's taste combined Supporting equally each separate part, They cramp no action of the lungs or heart; And no injurious ligature is placed To mar the flexure of the natural waist; Their fit is certain-and, what's sure to please In all positions there is perfect ease; The figures of the young they help to form, Aiding and not repressing every charm; Irregularities of shape they hide, So that by none can slight defects be spied. While e'en a figure, which is understood As being "bad," may by their help seem good; And matrons wearing them a boon will gain, Their early symmetry they'll long retain.

Insuring comfort, grace, good health, and ease, These Sherman Corsets cannot fail to please; One trial is the only test they need For then all others they must supersede; Fashion's demands with usefulness they blend, And so are truly EVERY WOMAN'S FRIEND!

TESTIMONIAL.

From the Right Rev. Bishop Potter:

The subscriber has attended the recitations of several Pupils of Mr. Philip Lawrence, and was present a few evenings since at the friendly competition, in the Academy of Music, between three young gentlemen who had been trained by him, and three who had been instructed by another Master, His system seems to me to be free from some grievous faults which have marked the teaching of many Elocuttonists, and to have some excellencies of a high order. As a worthy and laborious man, I cordially wish him success. Philad., April 23, 1863.

The undersigned, Principals of Schools in Philadelphia, cordially recommend Mr. Philip Lawrence as an admirable teacher in Elocution.
