Rural Economy.

WEEDS IN GARDENS.

Nothing reduces the current expenses of a family for the outlay more than a wellmanaged kitchen-garden; but the general complaint with many is the labor of keeping it clean—the constant fight with weeds. Some are of opinion that a garden of a quarter of an acre in extent will grow more weeds than ten acres of farm land, and there is good ground for the belief according to the way some are managed. A few weeds, allowed to ripen their seeds, will produce an abundant crop next year; and thus, year after year, the earth becomes filled with them, till the soil of a garden consists of three main ingredients-namely, a soil naturally; a large amount of manure, artificially; and an immense supply of foul weeds, spontaneously, The question naturally arises, is it not practicable to clear out entirely and totally the last of the three? Are weeds a necessity? If a garden contains a hundred thousand of them, and ninety-nine thousand are killed by a hoe, why not the remaining thousand? If nine hundred and ninety of this thousand, why not the remaining ten? The soil of a garden may be completely purified of weeds and their seeds, greatly reducing the labor of keeping it in order, and largely contributing to ine growth of the crops. It is much easier to keep a garden perfectly clean than to be engaged in a constant warfare with the weeds. The labor is far less. The reason that it is not done is the want of care and attention. Nearly all are satisfied if the garden is nearly clean. This is the origin of all the trouble—namely, leaving a few weeds to seed the whole ground. The remedy is, begin now, eradicate everything that may have shown its head, and so continue the examination every week. One morning every week should be set apart for this special purpose. Unless something of this kind is adopted, the thing will certainly be neglected. And after they are out, continue the process to keep them out. It is easier to spend half an hour in a morning once a week in this way, and have good crops, than to spend three days in each week fighting the intruders, and, as a conequence, getting bad crops.— Scottish Fur-

RON DISH-CLOTH — IRON CLOTHES-LINES.

I was once so ill-informed of the progress the fine arts, as not to know what an iron ish-cloth was. But seeing one in use at he house of a friend, I learned from a young Swiss gentleman who had presented t to her, that they were in general use in is native country, and he had accidentally een a cask full at an importer's, which ere unsalable in New York, and had beome rusty, and looked upon as old iron, procured a dozen, and distributed them nong my friends. They soon became right from use, and are universally classed nong those articles which "we wonder w we ever did without." These are ade of rings of iron wire, No. 15, linked gether, and are about six inches square. counted fifteen rings as only connected with other at each end, and an inch or two the middle, which makes two loops to hg it up by. Every kitchen maid who scoured the inside or outside of a kettle hit, pronounces it better than scraping that knife, or scouring with cloth and linstalled pastor at W. Philadelphia, May 1. Ljams, Wm. There is another iron convenience have used six years, and which is as good ever, that I would recommend to houseepers-galvanized iron telegraph wire clothes-lines. ### HORSES AT PASTURE.

Every horse in the country ought, if posle, to have a few weeks' run in the pasre. It will do for him what no kind of dicine or nursing can do as well. It ll improve his hoofs, his hair and skin, wind, digestion, and blood, will take out ffness and lameness, and put on flesh, d infuse new life generally. Before turning horses out, it is well to ustom them gradually to that kind of d, by cutting a little grass for them each , or allowing them to "bait" for an hour so daily in the back yard. And when out, they should not have "flush" feed irst, as they will be likely to over-eat, injure themselves both in their looks their wind. The best grass for a horse ture is a mixture of timothy, blue grass, red top. Horses relish this feed better n it is moderately short. When they o be turned out for any length of time. not to be used in the meanwhile, they ld have on only a light pair of shoes. will allow the hoofs to come in close ct with the soft earth, and will precontraction. Where horses cannot pasturage, they should have cut grass en as convenient, and should have stall floors covered with tan bark, or have the planks taken up and clay floor laid.—American Agriculturist.

TO HIVE A SWARM OF BEES.

Jones, of Dutchess County, New York communicates a convenient way of hiving a swarm of bees. He says :- "Take a long pole, and make the small end bulky by apping paper around it, making it about s thick as a man's arm, and half as anour s thick as a man's arm, and half as long; then bind a black cloth around it, (I do an old woolen stocking over it,) and the are it with a cord; then when the bees swarming, as soon as they attend to put that end of the pole in the here they are about lighting, and they settle on it immediately; but hey persist in settling on a limb, or it is, jar it, so as to disturb them, will leave it for the pole; then ntly down and set the hive over Sometimes, when fastened pretty firmly on the pole, it is expedient to shake it a little, to make them leave it for the hive. We have tried this plan for years, and have seldom failed in bringing them down.

REMEDY FOR SCRATCHES.—In answer to the query for a remedy for scratches, I will give one which I have used for thirty-five years with complete success, having never failed in one instance :- Take white pine pitch, rosin, beeswax and honey, one ounce each, fresh lard, one-half pound, melt well together over a slow fire, then add one-half an ounce sulphate copper (verdigris,) stir till it is quite thick, so the parts may not settle and separate. This makes an excellent application for harness galls and cuts and sores of all kinds, on horses and cattle. -Maine Farmer

In have known Hoofland's German Bitters favorably for a number of years. I have used them in my own family, and have been so pleased with their effects that I was induced to recommend them to many others, and know that they have operated in a strikingly beneficial manner. It take great pleasure in thus publicly proclaiming this fact, and calling the attention of those afflicted with the diseases for which they are recommended to these Bitters, knowing from experience that my recommendation will be sustained. I do this more cheeffully as Hoofland's Bitters is intended to benefit the afflicted, and is "not a rum drink."

Your truly,

From Rev. J. Newton Brown, D. D., Editor of the Encyclopadia of Religious Knowledge.

Although not disposed to favor or recommend Patont Medicines in general, through distrust of their ingredients and effects, I yet know of no sufficient reasons why a man may not testify to the benefits he believes himself to have received from any simple preparations in the bope that he may thus contribute to the benefit of others.

in the bone that he-may thus contribute to the benefit of others.

I do this more readily in regard to Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, of this city, because I was prejudiced against then for many years, under the impression that they were chiefly an alcoholic mixture. I am indebted to my friend, Robt. Shoemaker, Esq., for the removal of this prejudice by proper tests, and for encouragement to try them, when suffering from great and long continued debility. The use of three bottles of these Bitters, at the beginning of the present year, was followed by evident relief, and restoration to a degree of bodily and mental vigor which I had not felt for six months before, and had almost despaired of regaining. I therefore thank God and my friend for directing me to the use of them. Philada., June 23, 1861. J. NEWTON BROWN.

From Rev. J. M. Lyons, formerly Pastor of the Columbus (N. J.) and Milestown (Pa.) Baptist Churches. (N. J.) and Milestown (Pa.) Baptist Churches.

Dr. C. M. Jackson:—Dear Sir—I feel it a pleasure thus of my own accord to bear testimony to the excelence of the German Bitters. Some years since, being much afflicted with Dyspepsia, I used them with very beneficial results. I have often recommended them to persons enfeebled by that tormenting disease, and have heard from them the most flattering testimonials as to their great value. In cases of general debility I believe it to be a touic that cannot be surpassed.

J. M. LYONS.

From Rev. J. S. Herman, of the German Reform Church, Kutztown, Berks County, Pa. Dr. C. M. Jackson:—Respected Sir—I have been troubled with Dyspepsia nearly twenty years, and have never used any medicine that did me as much good as Hoofland's German Bitters. I am very much improved after having taken five bottles.

BY WILLIAM FORSYTH, M. A. Q. C. With Twenty Illustrations. Two vols. crown 8vo. Printed at the Riverside Press, on tinted and laid paper. Price $5.

The object of this work is to exhibit Cicero not merely as a Statesman and an Orator, but as he was at home in the relations of private life, as a husband, a father, a brother, and a friend. His letters are full of interesting details, which enable us to form a vivid idea of how the old Romans lived two thousand years ago, and the Biography embraces not only a History of Events as momentous as any in the annals of the world, but a large amount of Anecdote and Gossip, which amused the generation that witnessed the downfall of the Republic.

"The merits of Lord Derby's translation may be summed up in one word: It is eminently attractive; it is instinct with life; it may be read with fervent interest: it is immeasurably nearer that Pope to the text of the original. We think that Lord Derby's translation will not only be read, but read and read over again. Lord Derby has given to England a version far more closely allied to the original, and superior to any that has been attempted in the blank verse of our language."—Edinburgh Review, January 1865.

Having learned that E. YOUNG LADIES, NORTWEST CORNER OF CHESTNUT and EIGHTEENTH STREETS. REV. CHARLES A. SMITH. D.D..

This Seminary has been in successful operation for several years at No. 1530 Arch street. A new locality has been selected, not only because it is more central in its relations to the most densely populated portions of the city, but also because the school-rooms are unusually large and airy, and admirably adapted to the purpose to which they are designed.

To the present and former patrons of the school it is needless to speak of its advantages. To others, who desire to send their daughters to a first classing this celecities to educate, in the only true sense. To secure this end, thoroughness is aimed at in all the branches pursued, so that the scholar may understand the principle involved in every investigation.

The classes are arranged in three departments:—Primary, Academic, and Collegiate. There are separate and ample accommodations for primary pupils, as well as for those belonging to the higher departments. All the departments are subject to the same discipline and general supervision.

Circulars containing Course of Study, and other information, may be obtained at the Presbyterian House. 1834 Chestnut street; also, at 1226 Chestnut The next session will commence on MONDAY, September 18th, 1865.

The rooms will be ready for examination about the first of September.

WILLIAM F. WYERS, A. M., Principal. J. HUNTER WORRALL, A.M., Ph.P., Asso. Principal

The scholastic year of ten months commences on the FIRST TUESDAY—the 6th—of September next. The corps of instructors is large; the course of instruction thorough and extensive, designed to fit boys and young men for college or for the active duties of business in its various requirements. Students who design entering Yale or Harvard College are especially invited to avail themselves of the tried advantages of the school. Business men will take notice that the modern languages—German, French and Spanish—are taught by native resident teachers, who have no connection with any other school. Two German gentlemen of superior ability and experience devote all their time to the department of Vocal and Instrumental Music. Major G. ECKENDORFF; assisted by the Mültary Superintendent, has charge of the Miltary Department.
