THE AMERICAN PRESBYTERIAN, THURSDAY JULY 27, 1865.

Towsley one. Brother Hanning's prospects seem in- power of the two elements, radicalism deed to be favorable-a fine country locality; an active and efficient church and society, with a fine choir of singers; a flourishing Sabbath school, with one of the best superintendents in the country at its head; a commodious and beautiful sanctuary; with the last thing in the process of completion, viz : a beautiful fence around to call it finished, and to all these, I think I may add the heart of the people. May God make his pastorate a long and useful one.

GRIFFIUS MILES, Clerk, pro tem. July 20th, 1865.

' "HOURS AT HOME" AGAIN.

EDITOR OF THE AMERICAN PRESEY-TERIAN :- In a late number, the editor of this new monthly, explains the anachronism by which one of his contributors represented Rosseau, Calvin, and Voltaire as contemporaries, as growing out of a "clerical omission." He says that " in transcribing the manuscript for the printer, the little word had was omitted. Had Rosseau, John Calvin, and Voltaire, lived at one time in Geneva, what an assemblage !"

The honesty of this explanation will sufficiently appear by quoting the passage exactly as it stands in the article refered to :--- "Rosseau, John Calvin, and Voltaire, lived at one time in Geneval What an assemblage! and what wonder that Voltaire and Rousseau should have united in opposing and condemning John Calvin."

All the remainder of the article, moreover, supposes contemporaneous residence of the three in Geneva.

A PHILADELPHIA PASTOR CALLED .--Philadelphia pulpits, whether with prospect of success we are not informed. The Westminster Church in the former new pastor begins his labors under the city has presented a unanimous call to most favorable auspices. Rev. Dr. Irvine, now pastor of the Westminster Church here. Both churches are in the Old School connection. We know not what Dr. Irvine's duty or wishes in the case may be, but we should be sorry to loose his society, as we are sure his church would be to have his short and brilliant pastorate with them so suddenly terminated. Our readers generally will feel an interest in the case, when we inform them of their incase, when we inform them of their in-debtedness to his pen for the fresh, spicy, and , yet genial articles which have appeared in our columns as orig-inal over the signature of "A Pupil of Chalmers." He took the decidedly Bostonish theme of PIANO FORTES, ORGANS, & MELODEONS, the indebtedness of theological opinions and religious progress to naturalism. A NEW PHILADELPHIA PASTOR.-Rev. Mr. McCorkle, late of Chicago, has been settled over the Union Presbyterian Church, (O. S.) in this city, in connection with the Presbytery of Philadelphia. He was installed by a committee of the Presbytery on Sabbath evening, the 16th inst. In this service Rev. D. A. Cunningham presided, preached the sermon, and proposed the constitutional questions; the Rev. M. B. Grier delivered the charge to the pastor, and the Rev. New York is again foraging among the W. M.
