SUPERNATURAL CHRISTIANITY.

FISHER. Essays on the Supernatural Origin of Christianity, with special reference to the Theories of Renan, Strauss, and the Tuebingen School. By Rev. George P. Fisher, M. A., Professor of Church History in Yale College. New York: Charles Scribner & Co. 8vo., pp. 586. For sale by Smith, English & Co., Philadelphia, price $3 00.

In these essays, we have the well-digest ed reflections of a clear, candid and genial thinker, a man of wide culture, gathered at leisure on both sides of the Atlantic, one especially versed in the current phases of an enthusiastic reception. They cannot of Musical History," by John Hullah; the conflict between faith and philosophy, wielding a facile, elegant and perspicuous upon the youth of the country. style, and seeking rather to enlighten and to win by calm statement, than to carry away by the enthusiasm and energy of a profoundly earnest nature. Prof. Fisher, in these Essays, discusses every prominent topic in the conflict between the friends and foes of a supernatural Revelation. He regards the battle ground as really lying in the domain of Natural Religion, and Pantheism as the true enemy, who comes veiled in the guise of an opportent of everything claiming to be miraculous. Therefore he omits the discussion of Inspiration, and of socalled discrepancies and errors in Scripture, and grapples at once with the most radical of the errorists of our time: the Tuebingen School with Baur at its head, and Strauss, not neglecting Renan, though estimating his position and importance as far below those of the others. The topics treated are: I. Nature of the Conflict: II. Genuineness of the Fourth Gospel; III, Origin of the First, Three Gospels; IV, Baur on Parties in the Church, and on the character, and give the book its name. MACLEOD. A Highland Parish. By Rev. Norman Macleod, D.D., author of "Wee Davie." R. Carter & Bros. 16mo., pp. 318, Illustrated. For sale at the Presbyterian House.

These sketches and stories are from the author's "Reminiscences of a Highland Parish." Dr. Macleod is one of the most gifted and successful delineators of Scotch character in our day. The blended humor and pathos, the rich descriptive powers, and the charm of language marking his narratives, are equalled by the value of the infity-six columns of printed matter every information which they contain about a day. CLEVEL ND'S HOUSEHOLD LIBRARY.

A CHRISTMAS PRESENT OF ENDURING VALUE.

The undersigned now publish the four volumes of Prof. Cleveland upon ENGLISH, AMERICAN, and OLASICAL LITERATURE, and also his edition of MILTUN'S POETICAL WORKS, with a complete CONCORDANCE. MILTUN'S POETICAL WORKS, with a complete CONCORDANCE.

These five volumes have been warmly commended by a very large number of the first scholars, divines and educators of our country, among whom are Rt. Rev. Alonzo Poiter: Rev. John Ludlow, D.D.; Rev. Albert Barnes; Prof. Goodrich, of Yale College; Rev. Albert Barnes; Prof. Goodrich, of Yale College; Rev. Albert Barnes; Prof. Goodrich, of Yale College; Rev. Dr. Hopkins; of William's: Hon. Josiah Quincy; Hon. Charles Sumner; Oliver Wendell Holmes, etc.

They have had a very wide circulation in our country, nearly sixty thousand in the aggregate having been printed, while two of them have been republished in England.

Of the Compendium of English Literature the London Atheneum said: "It is decidedly the best book of the kind we know;" and of the edition of Milton, the Reader of last May says: "It is thoroughly worthy of a place in every English library, and is among the most remarkable of works produced by American men of letters,"

In view of such commendations from such sources, the publishers leed that they can confidently commend these books, which present, in the language of a distinguished educator, "a very complete view of literature from Homer to Holmes," as a Christmas present of more than ephemeral value.

The set may be had; put up in neat boses, in various styles of binding, at prices from $10 to $17 50.
