J. B. LIPPINCOTT & CO.'S BOOKS. BUTLER. Inner Rome; Political, Religious, and Social.

THE EVANGELICAL QUARTERLY REVIEW, for January, 1866. Edited by M. L. Stover, Professor in Pennsylvania College.

HAMMOND. On Wakefulness. With an Introductory Chapter on the Physiology of Sleep.

TICKNOR & FIELDS' BOOKS. KINGSLEY. Hereford. The Last of the English, by Charles Kingsley, author of "Two Years Ago," etc.

For the historical materials of this tale, Kingsley has gone farther back in the annals of his country than Sir Walter Scott, and has brought out a picture of manners more remote from our own times and more singular.

supremacy of the invaders was established. The power of Romish superstition over the rude people is also well portrayed.

COFFIN. Winning his Way, by Charles Carleton Coffin. Boston: Ticknor & Fields. 18mo., pp. 258. For sale by J. B. Lippincott & Co., Philadelphia.

A youth's story of the war, admirably wrought out by the favorite correspondent, "Carleton." It is irresistibly attractive to young or old, and is one among the praiseworthy efforts of our popular writers to keep alive and disseminate in the minds of our youth the lessons of heroism taught by the war.

GIFT BOOKS. OLIN. The Perfect Light; or, Seven Hues of Christian Character, by Julia M. Olin. New York: A. D. F. Randolph. Square 12mo., pp. 256. For sale at the Presbyterian Book Store.

The seven primary colors blended together make a white ray; so, in the fancy of the author, the perfection of Christian character may be exhibited by the different phases it assumed in seven different individuals, each eminent in some distinct grace or sphere of influence and effort.

The reader can see that the biographical sketches are drawn from the most varied materials, including European and American subjects, Catholic and Protestant, of our own and of previous times.

A very handsome, substantial volume, a credit to the Boston Society, on heavy tinted paper, each page handsomely bordered with red lines, and each section illustrated with a full page picture, and with large head and tail pieces; its outward elegance is no small recommendation.

LITERARY ITEMS.

AMERICAN ANNOUNCEMENTS.—D. Appleton & Co., a new edition of Lyell's Elements of Geology, $4.50.

FOREIGN.—Dramatic authors are far more likely to be well paid, than others, in France, on account of the universal passion there for the stage.

French Announcements.—Louis Blanc's "Letters on England," "The Martial Women of France," with 20 photographs; "The third volume of the Jura Band's 'Excursions,' by Mm. de Gasparin. Complete edition of the works of Massillon, by the Abbe E. A. Blampignon, in 4to; Abbe Darra's "General History of the (Roman Catholic) Church from the Creation to the Present Time," 20 vols.; M. W. Frochner's "Description of Trajan's Column, with a Map of Ancient Dacia," etc.; Dr. Jolly's "Hygienical and Medical Studies on Tobacco" (republished from the Bulletin of the Imperial Academy of Medicine); the 7th vol. of De Toqueville's complete works (new correspondence entirely unpublished); Dr. A. Boine's "Idiotherapie" (or the medico-surgical use of iodine and especially iodic injections and external applications); a new edition of de Lamennais's "Book of the People," with an Introduction by M. Renan.

A Philadelphia Writer Abroad.—Our townsman, Henry C. Carey's work on Social Science, in 3 volumes, which had but moderate success here, is received by the Germans with decided favor.

THE DEATH OF DR. BARTH, the African traveler, is reported. He was forty-four years old, and was born in Hamburg. He commenced his travels and researches in Africa as far back as the year 1845.

Schiller's Pen.—At a recent sale of autographs in Germany, a pen, authenticated as having been used by Schiller, brought only 25 silver groschen—about 60 cents.

Mexico.—This unhappy and distracted country is not wanting in men of high literary and scientific ability. The most learned and exhaustive work on the native languages of America is said, by competent judges, to have been produced by Don Francisco Pimental, Conde de Heras, whose "Cuadro Descriptivo y Comparativo de las Lenguas Indigenas de Mexico," was commenced in 1822 by the appearance of volume I, in a handsome royal 8vo., from a Mexican press. It contains monographs or comparative grammars of twelve of the languages or idioms native to Mexico, as the Aztec, the Othomi, &c. Five of these are entirely new to philology, and have never before been made known to scholars.

They are ENTIRELY NOISELESS, and "might safely" be used in a sick-room, or by the cradle of a sleeping infant. SIXTH. They are run with PERFECT EASE, scarcely an effort being required to sew a thousand stitches per minute. SEVENTH. They are ABSOLUTELY COMPLETE, and will Hem, Fell, Bind, Cord, Make Tuck, Gather, and Embroider beautifully. EIGHTH. They CANNOT BE TURNED THROUGH ANY WAY. NINTH. THE NEEDLES CANNOT BE SET WRONG.
