most influential organs of the French press, | cal College had also organized for field seramong them the Journal des Debats, have made this remark : "Austria is clerical (that is to say, Popish), she must either undergo a is to say. Popish), she must either undergo a change or die; she can no longer exist as she tail the catholicity of the nations. If Austria of the Catholicity of the nations. If Austria be vanquished, "she will close the Catholic cycle of modern people." This is probably a true anticipation. The old Catholic ideal of Church and State is likely soon to be but an idea-the terrible ecclesiastical tyranny that are not wanting zealous Protestants in Berlin and elsewhere who take a grim interest in the fact that by the defeat at Sadowa the House of Hapsburg "met its doom" on the very ground where, some 250 years ago, Ferdinand II. so ruthlessly stamped out the Protestantism and the freedom of Bohemia. It is said, indeed, that a Berlin pastor of rank predicted the victory on that field a fortnight before the event. After the battle of Weissenberg, in 1620, the Emperor systematically labored to extirpate the new religion and its professors.

GERMANY.

THERE has been a considerable developmoral and spiritual interests of the Prussian soldiers during the recent war, as appears in the subjoined extract from the correspondence of Evangelical Christendom. And yet its proportions are trivial compared with the immense number of men under arms, and the sanguinary character of the conflict. Perhaps, if the war had endured, as did ours, a German Christian Commission might have been brought into existence of something like American dimensions. The correspondent says :--- "Different associations have been formed for assisting, by free contributions, the official chaplains of regiments and divi-sions in the army. The Government has eagerly seconded these efforts of individual piety; and many free preachers have offered their services for this object. Then, moreover, the order of the Knights of St. John, created at Berlin in the reign of the preceding monarch, has caused to be prepared for our wounded and sick soldiers several lazarettos, containing altogether more than 400 In addition, the members of this order have, individually, and at their own expense, placed above 200 other beds at the service of the same cause. The establish-ments of deaconnesses at Berlin, Kaisers-werth, Breslau, and Konigsberg, have also denoted to this secred work the services of devoted to this sacred work the services of all their disposable deaconesses, to the number of nearly thirty. And the House of Dea-cons of Duisburg has sent thirty of its brethren to the fields of battle, to the assistance of the wounded. The establishments of the Rauhen-Haus, near Hamburg, have not remained behind in this holy crusade of charity. We must not forget to add, that the depots of the British and Foreign Bible Society at Berlin, Cologne and Frankfort, are abundantly supplying the armies with the Holy Scriptures by the agency of numerous colporteurs whom they send thither."

VALUBLE STATISTICS OF CHURCHES AND POPULATION.-In Saxony, the following are the numbers belonging to the different churches:-The entire population, at the end of 1864, was 2,343,994; of these, 2,279,082 belong to the Lutheran Church; 47,441 to the Romish Churches; 5239 to the Reformed Church; 599 to the Greek Church; 357 1708 so-called German Catholics, or Free Associationists. The population of Hano-ver, at the end of 1865, was about 2,000,000; these 1.584.767 were Lutherans; 98,010 424 Jews; and 2282 members of various other sects. According to the most recent estimates, there are 3,324,000 Protestants; that is, 2,050,000 Reformed, and 1,274,000 Lutherans in Austria. The increase during the last 185 years is said to have been no greater than 5 per cent. In 1865 there were in Bomia 41 Protestant churches, or communities In Moravia there were 21 churches, with 19 pastors and 38,469 souls; and there took place 308 marriages, 1298 births, and 1061 deaths, 25 conversions to Catholicism, find, says the correspondent of the Christian Work, that despite the difficulties placed in tholicism, the conversions to the former are decidedly in the majority, both in Bohemia and Moravia. In both lands there are numproof of this, I may mention that, when descendants of the exiled Hussites, or Moravian and Bohemian Brethren, pay visits, especially to Prague and its neighborhood, they are received with extraordinary interest, even by Romanists. STATISTICS OF THE PRIESTHOOD.-According to a Roman Catholic journal published in Mayence, there are at present 310,000 monks and nuns connected with the Romish Church, distributed as follows :- Monks, 50,000 Franciscans; 16,000 School Brethren; 8000 Jesuits, etc. The Female Orders comprise about 190,000 members, of which 162,000 are in Europe alone; in France, 10,000; in Italy, 30,000; in Belgium, 10,000; in Geruany, 8000; in Spain, 7000; in England, 4000; in Switzerland, 1340; in Poland and Hungary, respectively, 1000; in America, 20,000; Asia, 4000; and in Africa and Australia, 1000. They are divided into the fol-lowing orders:—Sisters of Mercy, (Vincen-tian.) 28,000; Franciscan Sisters, 20,000; School Sisters, 20,000; Sisters de Sacre Cœur, 10,000.

DENIAL OF A PLACE OF INTERMENT-VICTORIES OF PRUSSIA.—There is an article in the Ultramontanist Journal, the Monde of Paris, of some interest. It states what must be the result, as regards Rome, of the over-throw of Austria. "No State will remain depending upon the Vicar of Jesus Christ." In the parish where they died, and negligered on the parist difference on the parist of the parish where they died, and negligered on the parist of the parish where they died. and negligered throw of Austria. "No State will remain depending upon the Vicar of Jesus Christ." All will have abjured the official character of the Catholie faith. The mass of the Catho-jies in France, Spain, and Germany will let fall the throne of Pio Nono, that visible sign the Catholie function of the part of the Italian Government in not providing Protestant cemeteries. At length, some three or four years ago, orders were issued that the Municipal Councils of all the towns should provide, alongside the Campo Santo, a cemetery for the Protestants, and it was hoped that the question was setthed forever. In Tuscany they know fa-mously how to avoid the law, and none better than some of the authorities when it suits them. In this instance of neglecting to prohas so long oppressed Christendom for ever vide a burying ground, none have stood more disappearing. And the paper says — There conspicuous than the municipality of Florence. The matter has been brought to a head by the refusal of the parish priest of Signa to allow a Protestant lady to be buried in the Campo Santo there, though the law provides that such shall be done when no separate cemetery has been set apart. The syndic of this small town was absent, so M. Geymonat, the Waldensian pastor of Florence, telegraphed to Cantelli, the prefect of the province, to have the law put in force; but this gentleman took no notice of the telegram, refused to see messengers whom M. Geymonat sent to him, as he could not leave Signa himself, and after waiting in vain for two days he was, at last obliged to have the body conveyed across the country about ment of Christian charity in behalf of the seven miles to Sesto, where there is a small cemetery for the Evangelici. The people of that town rose at once against the body of a Protestant being sent from another commune to be buried in theirs; missiles of all sorts were thrown at the coffin and at M. Geymonat, and with difficulty he was able at last to accomplish his melancholy duty. Immedi-ately on his return to Florence, he wrote directly to Ricasoli, informing him of what had occurred, and complaining that the laws were not put in force in Tuscany. The prefect was not long in hearing of the matter in a way that quickened his motions wonderfully. He has published a decree, making proper arrangements for the decent interment of Protestants hereafter; and thus, for the third or fourth time, Ricasoli has seen justice done to the Vaudois, not because he shares their opinions, but because he is de-termined to have the laws faithfully administered.—Evangelical Christendom.

GENERAL CONCLUSION.—The Italian re-verses have been eagerly seized on by the priest party to foment reactionary intrigues. But they have had no success, and we should think that the result must have satisfied the most bigoted among them of the hopelessness of their cause. How little the Italian au-thorities are afraid of them may be inferred from the fact, that coincident with the war has been the urging on the measure for the seiz-ure and confiscation of the convent revenues. These measures are in great part due to the new Minister, Baron Ricasoli, who may not have the suppleness and adroitness of Cavour or Bismark, but who is equal to either in his perception and his resolute will. The Evangelicals in that country owe him much. No one pretends that he favors their religious opinions; but he is animated by a cold, stern spirit of impartial justice, and again and again he has made trimming prefects and fanatical priests know and respect the law. It is to be hoped that he will bring his honesty and determination of purpose to bear upon the perpetrators of the massacre of Barletta. —1b.

DENMARK.

A correspondent of Evangelical Christendom, says :-- The religious awakening conwere English or Americans; 1964 Jews; tinues, although the religious and believing form, as yet, but a very small minority, and many parts of our country present, spiritually, but a very gloomy aspect. The awaken Reformed ; 226,009 Roman Catholics ; 12,- | ing continues to be a fruit of the believing ministry of the Church, and almost all the believers are on the friendliest terms with the believing clergy. The awakening is greatly aided by an excellent Home Mission-ary Society. The progress made by this society may be deemed very great, when regard is had to the smallness of our country; with 62,968 souls. Eighty-one conversions of Protestants to the Catholic Church, and 177 of Catholics to Protestanism. In all, there were sions tidende) circulates about six thousions tidende) circulates about six thou-44 schools; 11 communities had no schools at sand copies, something quite unheard all. In Moravia there were 21 churches, of amongst us. Two of the directors of the society, Rev. W. Beck and J. Clausen, made, last autumn, a missionary tour in Jutland, and held numerous and crowded meet and 36 to Protestanism. It is pleasing to ings, which were a blessing to the parishes where they took place. Many home missionary meetings have been held by these and the way of conversions to Protestantism, and other ministers in churches, schools, barns, the facilities afforded for passing over to Ca-and the open air. The Home Missionary Society has twenty or thirty colporteurs, who have each their districts in which they visit believers and unbelievers, and sell books and bers who would, probably, return to the reli-gion of their fathers if they were freed from the pressure of the Romish Church. In Missionary Society gains more and more In Missionary Society gains more and more ground, aud almost all believing people, principally amongst the peasants and com-mon people, rally around it, the ultra-Grun-dtvigians excepted.

[From the Portland Monthly.] SUMMER COMPLAINT AND DYSEN-

TERY. Bowel complaints seem just now to be the prevailing element, and any medicine that is everywhere acceptable, and that is reliable, is a very desirable acquisition. From what we have seen, heard and experienced, we believe Davis's Pain Killer is this desideratum. For the best method of using it, we quote from the directions :-

"For common bowel complaints give one teaspoonful in a gill of new milk and molasses, in equal parts stirred well together; lessen the dose for children according to the age. If the pain be severe, bathe the bowels and back with the medicine. This mode of treatment is good in cases of the cholera morbus, sudden stoppages, &c. Repeat the dose every hour.

"The quickest way I ever saw a dysentery cured was by taking one spoonful of the Pain Killer in one gill of mllk and molasses stirred well together and lrank hot, at the same time bathing the bowels freely with the medicine. Let the dose be repeated every our, until the patient is relieved."

If every person who has reason to fear this disease would provide themselves with a bottle of this medicine, and use as occasion required, we believe a great amount of suffering and sickness would be saved. 1057-3t

ITALY.

The energies of the people seem absorbed to a great degree by the importance of the struggle and the changes likely to follow its ^{conclusion.} The Christian offices so much needed by the soldiers have not been forgotten by the Waldenses. The correspondent of $E_{cangelical}$ Christendom says :—Considering the number of Evangelici who have taken Part in the war, Dr. Revel, as President of the Commission of Evangelization of the Waldensian Church, applied to Baron Ricasoli for permission to have some of their ministers recognized as chaplains, so that they might have free access to the hospitals. The Prime Minister immediately sent the application to the War-office, no doubt with a request that it should be attended to, for an official reply was immediately forwarded by the Minister of War to Dr. Revel, intimating that the request was granted. The pastors also gained the right in Milan, Brescia, Turin and Guastalla, to attend the wounded in those cities. The students in the Theologi-

The high appreciation of the Sabbath Hymn Book and its wide introduction by the churches, about one thousand of which now have it in use in one or other of its forms, have encouraged the publishers to still further efforts to increase its usefulness, by furnishing it in different editions, and especially in connection with tunes which shall be adapted to various tastes

The Sabbath Hymn and Tune Book as originally published, furnishes an edition of the work with tunes which are generally very plain and simple in rhythm and melody, and meets the wants of those who regard such tunes, and such only, as well adapted to Congregational singing. It is in use in nearly six hunired churches. The new edition, now announced, is designed to furnish the Hymns in connection with the tunes of a different character. The aim in its preparation has been to make the most complete collection possible of all these tunes which have proved most popular in use throughout the country. It does not present any new tunes, but brings to gether from all sources such tunes as have been most attractive and successful in use. In preparing the original edition, after collecting together the popular tunes, such as were believed to be too difficult or otherwise unadapted to the congregational singing were thrown out. In the new book no such discrimination is made, but the test for admission of any tune has been simply its popularity. Hereafter, therefore, there will be two editions of the Sabbath Hymn Book with tunes, viz: THE SABBATH HYMN AND TUNE BOOK, with

with popular Tunes. The hymns are the same in both editions, and are on the same pages, so that as far as hyuns are con-cerned they can be conveniently used together. The 16mo, edition of The New Sabbath Hymn and Tune Book will be ready in September. Prices: cloth, $1.38; morocco. $1,88; on the receipt of which copies will be sent by mail, post paid. The octavo edition will be ready in a short time. A circular containing an index to the New Sabbath Hymn and Tune Book, showing the first lines of the hymns, and the names of the tunes to which they are set, will be sent free to any address. Devices home cell ivation, all punishments, threats, harsh langnage, and intimidation are rendered entirely unnecessary.

Love, advice, and everything else embraced in the unjustly ridiculed term, "Moral Suasion," produce as much order, industry, contentment, affection, and devotion as can be desired, and far more than can be secured by any other means.
The former pupils have had, to an unusual extent, their aspirations so raised, and their minds so cultivated as to attain to the highest bonors in college, and to the first places in business.
Visitors are at all hours welcomed. They will find no staring, no shyness, no idleness, no whispering in the school-room-the perfection of order and good recitations. They will find on the ball grounds no teasing, no vulgar language, no use of tobacco, nothing whatever objectionable; and with this innocence they will observe the fullest flow of youthful affection and its neighborhood, will be sent for in the morning and sent home at the close of a happy day spent in the country air. The health of small boys, instead of being impaired by overtashing, is greatly improved by frequent and well-timed recreation. The kind attentions and good examples of their younger companions. The beminary is fortunately situated near the convergency of the railway over the Young men and youth are of great advantage to their young men and youth are of great advantage to their young are shift. It is surrounded by anyle write Bridge with the railways over Market street and Chestnu streets bridges, so that, from the Schuyl, it is reached in a few minutes, and in about the same time by each line. It is surrounded by ample grounds, which are beautifully sbaded and adorned in some parts, and in others stretch out into extensive lawas, suitable for our national game of base ball, and for other anguagements.

The undersigned from the first aimed at, secured, and now, to the greatest possible extent, relains an extraordinary selectness of patronage by which, from previous home cultivation, all punishments, threats, harsh langnage, and intimidation are rendered en-tiraly unpresenver.
