XLth CONGRESS-First Session.

Senate.—April 14.—In the Impeachment Court the President's council asked a postponement of the case for at least one day, Mr. Stanbery having been suddenly taken ill. A resolution was adopted for the printing of 5000 additional copies of the Im-peachment trial report for distribution. The President was requested to communicate information in relation to private companies in connection with the Alaska purchase. April 15 .- In the Impeachment Court the President's message in response to the Senate resolution concerning Mr. Stanton's removal was offered, but objection was made and spatained by the Chief Justice. Documents were offered and received showing the facts in relation to removals and appointments by former Administrations. The bill making appropriations for the miscellaneous and impeachment expenses was passed. The impeachment appropriation is $50,000, and the other items amount to $117,000. An inquiry was ordered into the condition of the accounts of the Secretary of the Senate.

April 16.—In the Impeachment Court an order for the admission of all evidence that may be offered, was tabled by a vote of 33 to 11. Walter S. Cox, lawyer, testified that the President had employed him to use legal measures to test the constitu-tionality of the Tenure of Office act. R. T. Merrick, lawyer, testified that after Judge Cartter's action, the Attorney General, in the presence of the President, told witness to see if he could carry the tase to the Supreme Court. E. O. Perrin, of New York, testified to taking Congressman Selve to see the President, and counsel sought to prove that the President informed them of Stanton's removal and of his intention to issue a good nomination to the Senate, but Mr. Butler objected, and the objection was sustained.

April 17.—In the Impeachment Court an order that the Court hereafter meet at H-o'clock, was that the Court hereafter meet at Prociock, was adopted. Wm. W. Armstrong, of the Gleveland Plaindealer, and George Knapp and Henry Leeder, of the St. Louis Republican, then testified in regard to the President's apeeches in Cleveland and St. Louis. Frederick W. Seward, Assistant Secretary of State, testified in regard to the mode in which appointments of Consular officers are made in cases of vagancy to Secretary Weller, testified the Esc. appointments of Consular officers are made in cases of vacancy. Secretary Welles, testified that he was informed on February 21st of changes in the disposition of troops in Washington, and that he told the President next day, when Mr. Johnson said he would inquire of Emory, what it meant.

April 18.—In the Impeaclment Court, coursel offered to show that the Cabinet concurred in the opinion that the Tenure of Office bill was unconstitutional, and the message vetoing it was written by Seward and Stanton. The Chief Justice decided that this testimony admissible, but the Senate, by a majority of 9, decided otherwise. Secretary Welles was recalled, but the main portion of his evidence was ruled out. Postmaster General Randall testified in relation to the removal of Foster Blodgett from the Postmastership of Augusta, Ga. Mr. Evarts announced that the counsel believed the testimony all in, though, in the absence of Mr. Stan-bery, they could not say positively.

April 20.—The evidence for the defence was announced as closed. The managers offered some documentary evidence, which was rejected, as not rebutting. The evidence for the prosecution was announced as closed. The Court adjourned till

Private Families who aim to raise vege only, need not to be reminded "figs do not grow on thistles," nor that from good seed alone can good vegetables be obtained. The first of the start of the s

Seeds may, indeed, grow freely enough; but unless they profe good in every respect, it were better they had not grown at all.

The seeds offered by us being minly the produce of Bloomadale, raised under our own personal supervision, with the sid of years of practical experience, we are enabled to speak with entire confiice se to their quality, and of the reasonable probability of sat sfactory results. As We have that few "Novelties" to offer.
Our experience (obtained at some post) is that out of the multitude of that class of vegetables advertised for sale in most cases the good are not new, and the new are not good substantial strong well-however the sale in the s tial, staple, well-known sorts are in the main the most reliable. Purchasers who do not reside within ready access of the city or near merchants or druggists who yend our feeds, can be suppled by mail; post-paid; Priced Catalogues for family use, with the Regal Registrate for 1888 (abounding in useful hints), will be mailed, without charge, to all who apply enclosing a 3-cent stamp.
