SKETCHES OF PALESTINE, descriptive of the visit of Rev. EDWARD PAYSON HAMMOND to the Holy Land, with an introduction by Rev. Robert Knox, D.D., Pastor Linen Hall St. Presbyterian church, Belfast. London, Morgan & Chase; Dublin, Moffat & Co.; New York, Nelson & Sons. 180 pp., 18mo.—These "sketches" are in verse, and beautifully ornamented with colored engravings and a map of Palestine. They are in the measure of Longfellow's Hiawatha; not always so smooth and musical as the latter, but by no means destitute of merit. Some things a severer taste would have omitted, but those who know the author best will take no little interest in following him in his varied wanderings through that interesting land, especially as he sees everything from the religious standpoint, and tries to turn everything to the best account for the glory of his Master. The little map and colored engravings are worth the price of the book.

From CARTERS' we have three good books. The first, TALES FROM ALSACE, or Scenes from Life taken from Old Chronicles of the Reformation, would win its way almost without the cordial appreciation expressed in the sparkling and yet critical paragraphs of Saint-Hilaire's introduction. It is a book full of gems; brief tales of noble endurance for the faith; true Protestant ACTA SANCTORUM, told by one qualified not only by hearty sympathy and fine Christian sentiment, but by mastery of narrative style, and by an eye to the picturesque in all the surroundings. We should be glad to see it in the hands of every young person.—After an unusually long interval, our young readers—and none grow too old to appreciate some writers for the young—will hear with delight of another A. L. O. E. book. The one before us, made up of half-a-dozen different stories, is called by the title of the first, JOHN CAREY, or What is a Christian? and is marked with the author's usual skillful handling of the most directly Evangelical themes, in such a way as to command the interest, while winning and instructing the heart and conscience of the reader. 16mo., pp. 350, price 90 cts. The third of these volumes is E. H. BICKERSTETH'S HADES AND HEAVEN, containing two brief and Scriptural treatises upon the estate and employments, first, of the Blessed Dead, and second, of the Risen Saints. The views expressed are sound and judicious and in arrangement, and in some of the suggestions, original. They will be read with deep interest and profit by the thoughtful Christian, and will help to deepen the hold of eternal things upon his mind. The little volume is elegantly printed and bound.

In paper covers, but upon fine tinted paper, we have, from T. B. Peterson & Bros., of this city, a new and enlarged edition of HANS BREITMANN'S PARTY, by Charles G. Leland. Under the guise of a mixed dialect, made up of broken English, and good English, of broken German, and good German, in itself an element of the keenest drollery, we have the comic adventures of Hans Breitmann, in society, in battle, as a camp follower, as a Turner or Gymnast, and in other situations. Mingled with all are not a few sharp thrusts at German transcendentalism; but the author's chief purpose seems to be the entertainment of his readers, on the broadest and most convulsive scale, in which he is, amply successful, particularly where the broken dialect of the imperfectly naturalized German is matter of familiarity. While the poetry is free from all impurity, it is entirely too true to the coarse profanity of the beer-swilling type of Teutons, to be unqualifiedly recommended as a source of amusement. But its distinguished and novel quality as a literary performance must be fully admitted. Price 75 cts.

PAMPHLETS AND PERIODICALS. Dr. Schenck's Memorial Sermon of the Life, Labors, and Christian character of PHINEAS D. GURLEY, D.D., is an admirable illustration of what singleness of aim, and earnest Christian purpose in the ministerial profession can achieve, without those intellectual endowments which are the object of a worldly ambition. As pastor of our martyred President, his name is associated with some of the most memorable scenes in the world's history; in these he bore himself most creditably. His pastoral life in Indianapolis, Dayton, and Washington, was eminently successful. His labors in the Old School part of the Joint Committee on Reunion, were in the interest of Gospel liberty as well as of orthodoxy, and if he died comparatively young (in his 52nd year,) he was taken at a period in his life and activity, most favorable to the durability and honorableness of his reputation. With the sermon is connected an account of the Funeral Services, various resolutions, and a poetic tribute to the good and lamented pastor's memory.

THE CHRISTIAN WORLD, the Monthly Magazine of the American and Foreign Christian Union, has been greatly improved in appearance and in the quality and arrangement of the contents. It is one of the most instructive and ably conducted magazines of its class. We have made arrangements with the publishers so that we can give it as a premium to any one forwarding the name of a new subscriber and $2.50.

The AMERICAN PRESBYTERIAN and the Christian World, to new subscribers for $2.50.

The Tracts lately issued by the Union, on the Popish Controversy, are a new and hopeful feature of the Society's activity. It is known that the Romanists have been scattering tracts by the thousand, in which the offensive features of their system are toned down, and the most plausible representations of its character and aims are made. Several of these recent issues of the Union are in direct answer to the Romish tracts, as: "Is it honest? Answered;" "The Propagandists of Romanism in the U. S.;" "Americanized Romanism." Others are: "Should Protestants send their Children to Catholic Schools?" "The Seductive Power of the Romish Ritual," "The Roman Catholic View of Education," "Romanists and Romish Countries." They are prepared with care, and their distribution will promote the cause of truth and of sound Evangelical piety.

OUR YOUNG FOLKS for March contains two exquisite full page engravings, with many smaller ones, and its usual varied and excellent budget of original articles. The publishers offer to send the first four numbers of this year: January to April, as specimens to any one who will send for them. FIELDS, OSGOOD & Co., BOSTON.

OLIVER OPTIC'S Magazine, OUR BOYS AND GIRLS, is a very handsome, weekly octavo, illustrated, in which the Editor's new stories are dealt out in appetizing instalments from week to week. Other writers for the young of marked ability contribute regularly to its pages. Published by Lee & Shepard, Boston, at $2.50 per annum.

MR. VICK, the already well known and successful florist of Rochester, New York, is continuing to push his business with inexhaustible and commendable energy. He not only knows the value of printer's ink, but is testing the efficacy of the fine arts as an ally of his business. He has published one of the handsomest and most delicately executed colored lithographs of flowers and fruits that we have ever seen. Send to him for an invoice of flower and garden seeds and you will get a good article and be allowed a peep at the picture besides.

THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY for March, contains among others: Malbone, Part III., by T. W. Higginson; The Small Arabs of New York, by C. D. Shanly; Co-operative Housekeeping. Fifth paper; Little Captain Trot, by Mrs. Stowe; Consumption in America. Third and Last Paper, by Dr. Bowditch; The Foe in the Household. The first instalment of a Serial Story, by the author of "Victor and Jacqueline"; Popularizing Art, by Parton; Howard at Atlanta, a Poem, by Whittier; Our New President, by Charles G. Came; Reviews and Literary Notices. Fields, Osgood & Co., Publishers, Boston.

EVERY SATURDAY is a well-filled weekly budget of articles, gathered with excellent taste, from the lighter class of foreign literary weeklies and monthlies. Price ten cents. FIELDS, OSGOOD & Co., Boston.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE, March, 1869. Contents:—Police-men of the Sea, W. F. G. Shanks; South Coast Saunterings in England, M. D. Conway; Brainerd's Rock, Charles Gates; The Lands of the Earthquake, Eugene Lawrence; A Child's Wisdom, Alice Cary; My Enemy's Daughter, Justin McCarthy; Our Presentation at Court, Don Platt; About Heat, Robert Tomes; Missing, Edward Crapsey; Lost and Saved, Charles W. Elliott; The Weeping Willow, Carl Spencer; An Outsider at an Otter-Hunt, Annie Thomas; Ebbing, Carl Spencer; Editor's Easy Chair; Editor's Book Table; Editor's Record of Current Events; Editor's Drawer.

The few advance sheets of HENRY WARD BEECHER'S LIFE OF JESUS, THE CHRIST, submitted to our examination, are on a scale of great size and uncommon beauty. There will be two editions, differing mainly in the number of the illustrations. The so-called "Plain Edition" will be of 800 8vo pages, and contain four superb maps, from the latest and best data; Head of Christ from da Vinci, and a steel plate vignette engraving of Bethlehem. The other style will, besides these, contain twenty full-page wood engravings and from fifty to seventy-five smaller cuts. All, including maps, are from new and original drawings. As to its contents, the publishers give out that it will be better adapted "to touch the wants of religious thinkers in America" than any of the 135 Lives of Christ written within a century. It will be sold only by subscription. J. B. Ford & Co., New York.

LITERARY INTELLIGENCE. SCRIBNER, WELFORD & Co., 654 Broadway, New York, will supply Mrs. Somerville's new work on Molecular and Microscopic Science, in two volumes, post octavo, with 180 fine illustrations from microscopic objects, &c., in cloth, gilt, at $10.50. The same firm, in connection with Messrs. Chapman, Hall & Co., London, announce a complete, uniform, and standard library edition of the works of Thomas Carlyle. The first volume, comprising "Sartor Resartus," with a portrait of the author, will be published March 13; and "The French Revolution" April 15. This is to be considered the final and standard edition of the writings of Mr. Carlyle, and each of the volumes will receive the thorough and careful revision of the distinguished author. They have recently issued as a supplement to the Book-buyer a catalogue of choice and varied works on the arts and sciences, of their importation. It should be in the hands of every purchaser of such works.

Messrs. CLAXTON, REMSEN & HAFELFINGER, of Philadelphia, will shortly publish "The Christian Sabbath Vindicated, and the Sabbath in its Political Aspects," by Ignotus.

The Rev. Ch. C. Adams, of Manhattanville, New York, is now finishing a ten years' labor, by preparing for the press a volume on "The Recentness of Creation." Its principal features are to set forth the discovery of a new Law of Motion in the Sea, which has formed the marine geological strata from the Azic rocks upwards; and to endeavor to prove that there have been but four geological epochs, and these within the last six thousand years, viz.: The Creative, the Productive, the Destructive, and the Regenerative Epochs. It regards the Bible as much a scientific as a theological revelation from God. This new theory is claimed to be based on ascertained scientific facts and observations of the most advanced scientific men in Europe and America.

Messrs. J. B. Lippincott & Co., of this city, announce an illustrated book on Volcanoes and Earthquakes, $3.75; also Mrs. Stowe's "Our Charley, and What shall be done with Him," $1.00.—Perkennine & Higgins announce: The Senior Sunday-school Class, with a Chapter on the Best Means of Retaining Larger Scholars.—Gould & Lincoln, Boston, have published: The Evidences of Christianity, with an Introduction on the Existence of God and the Immortality of the Soul. By E. Dodge, D.D. 12mo., pp. 244. Cloth, $1.50.—Carlton & Lanahan, New York, have published a Manual of Methodism; or, The Doctrines, General Rules, and Usages of the Methodist Episcopal Church, with Scripture Proofs and Explanations. By B. Hawley, D.D. 16mo., pp. 176. Cloth, $1.

TICKNOR & FIELDS announce the sixth edition of the GATES AJAR, and the third of Lucy Larcom's Poems. They also announce the second and concluding volume of Browning's "Ring and Book," Reminiscences of Henry Crabb Robinson, friend of Wordsworth, Coleridge, Byron, Shelley, and others; a New Novel by Mrs. Stowe; The Brawnville Papers, by Moses Coit Tyler (on Physical Culture) &c.

—Viscount Strangford, who recently died at the early age of forty-three, was a man of great learning. He spoke Persian, according to Europeans themselves, with the mastery and elegance of a highly educated native; and so wonderful was his knowledge of Greek, that he was familiar with every dialect, could detect in a single sentence the district from which any speaker had come, and anywhere in Greece could scarcely have been known as a foreigner by his speech. He wrote very little, and his article on "The Eastern Shores of the Adriatic," in the "Quarterly Review," of August, 1866, a few reviews some time back in the "Saturday Review," and his frequent contributions to the "Pall Mall Gazette," are but a faint index to his fine intellect and his immense knowledge.

—There has lately been a great deal of activity in the publishing trade of Dublin. New editions of standard works are being issued at unusually low prices. Irish Language Books, as they are called, may be said to abound, the price varying from one penny to eighteen pence. Anecdotes of Dean Swift, Curran, and O'Connell have a large sale, each at one penny, and the varieties of Irish song-books, at the same low price, are numerous. The publications upon Irish politics, and especially the Irish Church, are not many. A new speculation, in illustrated penny weekly numbers, entitled "The New Hibernian Night Entertainments," was announced to appear on the 30th of January. The authorship is to be by Irish, Anglo-Irish, and Irish-American writers. The contents are to be very varied: "Legends and stories, illustrative of the Customs and pastimes of the Irish peasantry; Tales of Love and Adventure; Historical Tales of the Battles and Sieges of Ireland; Sketches of Illustrious Irishmen; Tales of Landlord and Tenant; Humorous Tales of the Wakes and Weddings, the Courtships and Patterns, the Faction Fights and Funerals, the Priests and the People, will be given, true to life, in every phase of the Irish character. Among others there is announced a volume entitled, "The Irish Brigade and its Campaigns in the American War," under Generals Corcoran and Meagher.

—In Bombay, the Queen's book, "Leaves from a Journal," &c., is coming out in a Marhatti translation. The plates of the original work have been put at the disposal of the translator. —7,000 volumes on Mexico alone were sold, in the Andrade Collection, at Leipzig, January 15th. —The "Encyclopaedia Britannica" will probably be naturalized in India, for the Maharajah of Benares purposes to have it translated into Urdu, and offers to contribute towards this vast undertaking the amount of 10,000 rupees; under the condition, however, that the Government of India should subscribe a similar amount for the same object.
