

The Gottlunds on the Ball

Mr. and Mrs. P. Gottland Pass The Ball At The "Starter's Strut"

"Talk of the Town"

Greetings!! This is your Behrend Super Snooper with the latest dirt. Since this is "My Lazy Day" I have been trying to grab a snooze but I heard Don Blair singing "There'll Be Some Changes Made," and now Joan Baudino pipes up with "I Should Care" . . . I am happy to see Carol and Bob are still "Together" . . . Betty Lou and Jeannine are harmonizing on "I Wonder, I Wonder"—I wonder what the problem is . . . Marilyn Garden takes time out from singing "Till Then" to seal an envelope, but she can't help thinking "You're Never Away" . . . At last we find that Mary Hough realizes "It's 'Dawn' Again" . . . Tom Pearce promises he's "Gonna Get A Girl" 'cause he says "It's Easy If You Know How" . . . Sturgulewski's theme song in Botany class is "I Wish I Knew" and each time he gives a wrong answer Mr. Shields replies "Better Luck Next Time" . . . John Pagonis is "Beginning To See The Light" . . . Why is it that Nancy Merrick told a certain guy with "Dark Eyes" "You've Changed" . . . Lee and Lois are still pondering over the checkerboard, humming "What'll I Do" . . . Each time Bill Klaban goes into Chem class he hopes he doesn't have a test—"Ah! But It Happens" "Every Doggone Time" . . . Rose Larson has frequently been heard singing "Ain'tcha Ever Comin' Back" . . . John Falcone's theme while playing ping pong is "I Hate To Lose You" . . . Dody Fisher has been heard "Whispering" a lot this past week . . . Every time the girls in gym class go for a hike they head for "Parts Unknown" . . . Frances Finesod said that if she could have had "Five Minutes More" it would have been worth being campused . . . Cy and John discovered Saturday that "The Night Has A Thousand Eyes" . . . If Rita Jackson doesn't pass Chemistry she is going to do her best to see that Mr. Balmer takes a "Slow Boat To China" . . . Nan Weston is still reminiscing about "The Things We Did Last Summer" . . . Dick Finney still hasn't named "That Certain Party"—come on, Dick, "Confess" . . . When a group of boys took a tour through the dorm they got quite a "Surprise Party" . . . Every time Jim Mullard gets in his car the motor hums "I Can't Get Started"—J. M. replies "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot" . . . We see Judy and Wes are still "Side by Side" . . . Why is it that Meida's favorite Broadway hit is the Harvey Girls . . . Every weekend Ray Metz takes a "Sentimental Journey" to see the "Girl Of His Dreams" which causes Judy Thomas to sing "Lover, Come Back

Guide's Services Are Appreciated

As part of the dedication program, the dormitory students of Behrend Center, volunteered to act as guides on tours of the campus. Janet Brown greeted visitors at the main gate; and introduced them to their guides. The tour started with a visit to the classroom building, faculty offices, and the bookstore. The guests were then shown the student lounge, which was appropriately decorated for the dance that evening. After this they were taken to the main buildings, and shown the library, administration offices, kitchen, dining and reception rooms, and girls dormitory. Included in the tour were the chemistry laboratory, swimming pool, and kennels. The guests were free to stroll around the campus. The guides were Janet Brown, Nan Bierman, Margie Fleming, Penny O'Neil, Beth Dunlap, Dorothy Holmstrom, Rita Jackson, Lee Della Donne, Mary Hough, and Ruth Gross.

Remember When..

Believe it or not we are history already. "Freshman Week" is now a legend to all. It was this hectic week you'll remember when we saw the modern classrooms, spacious colonial manor, and our own recreation building for the first time. Things are quite a bit smoother now. Schedules are in running order, the faculty is settled and the workmen are catching up according to schedule on the building and converting yet to be done. Still that "Freshman Week" was a thrill for all. Mr. Ferguson's talk and the movie that first Monday of our college career, with the English Placement Test and Told Me . . . Prediction of the has been thinking about "Nancy" . . . "All God's Chillun Got Shoes," but how do they get up on the rafters in the lounge . . . Couple of the week: "Would You Believe Me" it's Dunk Zimmerman and Margaret Truman . . . Question of the week: "Tell Me Why" Dick Dunn and Pete Yosten have grown so fond of Cokes lately . . . "Quotation of the week: "A Sailor Once Told Me . . ." . . . Predication of the week: There will be "Good Rock-in'" the night of the 20th . . . See you in the lounge "Night and Day."

"Sincerely Yours,"
Sal

"P. S. I Love You"

MR. FERGUSON

COMMENTS

By Dorothy Holmstrom

Mr. Ferguson was very pleased with the number of students present at the dedication of Behrend Center, and is grateful to those who acted as guides and assisted in the parking lot. Many of the students were fortunate enough to meet Mrs. Behrend personally. Mr. Ferguson hopes that Mrs. Behrend will accept his invitation to stay a few days at the Center the next time she visits Erie.

On Wednesday, November 3, the education committee of the General Electric Company visited us. The committee included: Mr. D. F. Smith, Mr. C. A. Traphagen, Mr. M. Grotjohan, Mr. J. M. Scarlett, Mr. C. A. Church, Mr. P. R. Milroy, and Mr. B. Miller.

Mr. William Powers, director of the arts and sciences extension, also visited the college Wednesday.

The next visitor from the main campus will be Mr. Cloethingh, head of the dramatic department.

Mr. Ferguson expects to have new parking lights here very shortly. The lines were laid last week and will soon be completed. The lights will be automatic. They will go on at 6:00 P.M. and off at 2:00 A. M.

Technical Course

The history of the Technical Institute dates back to 1920, or thereabouts, when the first courses were initiated at the various centers. In its early stages the courses were taught at Erie's high schools; the facilities were too limited, so Gannon temporarily housed some of the classes during the war.

Mr. Campbell, engineering instructor of the day school, is the administrative head of the Technical Institute. Mr. Henzi is the district representative in this section, while Mr. Ferguson is the man in charge of all night classes in the northwestern part of Pennsylvania. The teachers employed in the night school are all approved and rated by State College, and are leaders in their various fields.

At the present time there are seventy-seven students enrolled in the night school, most of whom are in their third year, working toward their certificates. State College provides these students with practical application in the laboratory, as equipment is sent for their use from the main campus. Students may take three credit hours and must attend classes two nights a week. The students take numerous trips throughout the term. One of the more important trips will be to General Electric. At the end of the term they go on an excursion to the Employment Bureau of Erie and finish the evening with a dinner at the Community Center. Those who take these courses must have a desire to learn as well as perseverance in order to finish the required number of credit hours.

Aptitude Tests surely kept all busy.

Then remember the social activities in the evening when awkward situations arose when we hadn't yet met each other. Yet these all turned out to be great fun for everyone; as all eventually became acquainted.

For the faculty that was also a week to remember. It was because of their untiring effort that we proceeded in the right direction.

This week will be remembered by all as our first real experience in college life.

Fitts Is Dead!

was finally decided that a trap should be set for him.

Fitts died a quick death and was later taken to his final resting place.

Surviving Fitts are: Frances Finesod, who first heard him; Mary Hough, who first saw him; Rita Jackson, who discovered his home; Marilyn Garden, who named him; Bill Richards, who generously donated the death weapon and solemnly carried Fitts to his burial ground; Sally Dickson and Meida Moskowitz, who dropped popcorn and other particles of food on the floor for him; and Joan Baudino and Dunk Zimmerman, probably the closest friends a mouse ever had. Joan thought the mouse should not have been caught. Mr. Zimmerman devised a method by which Fitts could have been caught alive. I'm sure Fitts appreciated these two people very much and I take this opportunity to thank them on behalf of our dear departed friend.

Nan Weston, who first came upon Fitts lying in state, thought that he had dropped dead upon hearing the election results!

Because of the housing shortage, another mouse moved into Fitts' home immediately after the funeral. It is the sincere desire of all who live in the room that this rodent will soon join his predecessor.

FLASH!!!!

Reliable sources report that at 2:45 A. M., Friday morning, Fitts' successor, recently nicknamed Jasper, committed suicide by walking headlong into a mousetrap. Unfortunately, death was slow and painful. It is now suspected that the so-called Jasper may have actually been Mrs. Fitts!

Council Plans Weekend Events

A special meeting of the Student Council was held November 2, at 8 P. M. in the classroom building. Eight of the nine student members, and five faculty members were present. The purpose of this meeting was to plan activities for the weekends.

It was voted that the students should be invited to gather in the student lounge November 6 to listen to the Penn-Penn State game. The council decided to serve cider and pretzels.

November 13, movies of one of the Penn State games will be shown. Mr. Demp will teach some Penn State songs and cheers in preparation for the Pitt game.

December 16 was set as a tentative for a Christmas dance.

It was unanimously voted that a social committee be appointed to investigate the opinion of the general student body, and then to make a schedule of activities for the year. This committee is to discuss the number and kind of activities needed and must report to the council at the regular meeting on November 9.

The members of this committee are; Dunk Zimmerman, Judy Norton, and Wes Pfirmann. Miss Davis and Mr. Demp are the faculty advisors.

Mr. Ferguson suggested that; the bulletin in the lounge be reserved for student notices, the left bulletin in the classroom building for student notices, and the right bulletin for official notices, and that all meetings be scheduled through one person in order to avoid confusion. He also requested that students keep the lounge in better order, and refrain from speeding in the driveway.

day at 12:30. At the last meeting Mr. Belferman has instructed the class in the waltz. In future meetings they will learn several Latin American dances, the fox trot, and many other popular dances.
