Practice Under Way For "Junior Miss"

PLAY CAST PRINCIPALS

HIGHLY RATED COMEDY SLATED

FOR ERIE HALL RUN MARCH 11, 12, 13

Speech Activities Slated For Spring

Mrs. Falkenhagen, head of the Speech department and English instructor, will be busier than usual this spring. Along with her usual role of teacher and advisor, she will undertake to direct the annual Easter play and also train and accompany those students of Behrend Campus taking part in the Reading Festival at the main campus.

The Easter play will be titled, "I Made Christ's Cross." A project of the Speech 200 classes, it will be the story of the man who fashioned the cross on which our Savior suffered death.

The Eleventh Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Reading Festival will be held at the Pennsylvania State University, Thursday, April 23, and Friday, April 24. There will be four sessions, devoted exclusively to the readings of particular forms of literature such as prose narrative, poetry, and drama. The specific location will be the assembly room of the Hub.

Dr. Earl E. Fleischman, of the City College of New York, will be the festival guest and feature reader at the banquet on Thursday evening. Linda Dickey, Gay Kinsinger, and Bob Scott are the students selected to participate from Behrend Campus.

Administration News

Dolores Davies, secretary to Mr. William Mosso, district representative, recently became engaged to James Ward, a two year student in drafting and design technology.

Mrs. Adam, secretary to Mr. Kochel, is planning a trip to the Far East this spring. Among the many spots she will visit are: Japan, Manila, Hawaii, Hong Kong and Bangkok.

Interest In Jazz Shown At Behrend

On Tuesday evening, February 17th, the newly-formed Behrend Jazz Club held its first official meeting in Erie Hall. Jack Raeder was elected president, Linda Roth, secretary, and Bob Edwards, treasurer; Mr. Hover is the faculty advisor.

The Behrend club plans to be affiliated with the Jazz Club at State, according to a plan of the University to co-ordinate the activities of the outlying campuses with those of the main campus.

Instead of meeting every time on campus, the members have decided to divide into groups which would concentrate on a certain type of jazz and meet together in a private home. A discussion meeting for the whole club would then be held during Common Hour, whenever possible.

Famous Lecturer To Speak Tomorrow

Tomorrow, Feb. 26, during the common hour at 11:00, the student body of the Behrend Campus will have the opportunity of hearing one of the most inspirational and dynamic speakers of our day. He is George Humphries Tolley from Jamestown, New York. His lectures have been widely acclaimed in such places as Emporium, Pa., the state teachers college at Fredonia, and in high schools throughout Missouri and Ohio. He has been received warmly in these and many other localities.

"Mr. Tolley carries with him a message that, I believe, will definitely be an inspiration to all of us," states Allen W. Burns, Behrend history professor.

His studies have carried him to such American educational institutions as New York University and the University of Rochester, where he received his degrees.

With this educational background and his successful speak-

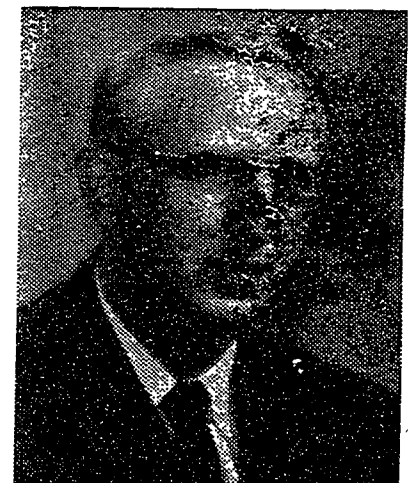

If you happen to be in the vicinity of Erie Hall on Monday, Wednesday, or Thursday evenings, at approximately 7:30, and hear a shriek of terror echoing from the stage, please do not be alarmed. Those are the lusty vocal chords of Grace Rowland as she realistically portrays a scene from "Junior Miss," a production which is to be presented there on March 11, 12 and 13 by the Behrend Players, campus dramatics group.

The highly rated comedy revolves about the lively imagination of Judy Graves, as she and her zany friend, Fluffy Adams, create a fanciful "disaster" which threatens Judy's life.

The harassed Mr. Graves; bustling J. B. Curtis, employer of Mr. Graves; Ellen Curtis, demure, obedient daughter of J. B.; Willis Reynolds, long-lost brother of Mrs. Graves, and Lois Graves, older sister of Judy, all become entangled in the surprising chain of events. Hilarious chaos and confusion are the results.

The cast, which has been rehearsing diligently for the past two weeks under the direction of Mr. Lane, is as follows: Harry Graves, John Polko; Grace Graves, Grace Rowland; Hilda, the maid, Linda Roth; Lois Graves, Gail Anderson; Judy Graves, Linda Dickey; Fluffy Adams, Pat Wachtel; J. B. Curtis. (Continued on Page 2)
