Academic Endeavor

Scholarship is the character or qualities of a student. It is his knowledge and learning. To obtain the most from his scholastic ability, the student must become accustomed to accurate and well-disciplined learning. Class participation, concentrated study habits, and complete understanding of the subject matter all combine to insure this end.

In college, the student's scholarship and his scholastic standing are rated by the work he does, both written and oral. His activeness in class participation helps him not only to prove his newfound knowledge, but also to clarify his misconceptions.

Concentrated study habits must be formed early in his college career so that he may derive the greatest value from his courses. Although the time varies, he is urged to spend at least two hours of study time for each hour of class time.

This class participation, and concentrated studying will then produce his complete understanding of the subject matter which leads to the fulfillment of his goal of becoming a learned person with a high scholastic standing.

ence. The ideas and information gained by this conference will be helpful in future council activities.

A juke box was placed in Erie Hall for the students' enjoyment. This eighty selection machine will benefit the Student Council only if it collects over $8.00 a week. Support your Student Council by playing the machine.

The monthly meeting of the Behrend Faculty Women and Wives Organization was held at the Kochel residence, Monday, November 2, at 8 p.m. The hostesses were Mrs. Ethel Kochel and Mrs. Carolyn Lane. There was a very interesting program planned with Mr. Kochel speaking on "The Future of Behrend Campus." All members enjoyed attending this informative meeting.

" . . . President of my class, straight 'A' grades, a $500 a month job waiting for me. Then two weeks before graduation my advisor tells me that due to an unfortunate oversight I needed two more credits in physical education to graduate."

"Music by Phil King." This sounds familiar to most Behrendites who attended the freshman "get acquainted" dance and the Pumpkin Prance.

Phil, whose nickname is "Sky", is known to all because of his combo, in which he plays the saxophone and the clarinet. Music, music, music is this boy's cry. A member of the Jazz Club, he is mainly interested in modern jazz and swing.

Phil is in the associate degree program majoring in electrical technology. He plans to serve in the Navy for two and one-half years, starting in February, after which he will finish his education at Behrend.

When asked about his hobbies, he blushed and timidly admitted that he had quite recently taken up knitting. In his spare time, he plays chess and listens to any available Frank Sinatra records.

lounge, you will probably see Phil at the bridge table, bidding madly. His clever quips and infectious laugh make him a popular man on our campus.

Star Gazers Meet

The third meeting of the Astronomy Club was called to order by President Bob Johnson, at 10:11 A.M. October 22. The minutes were approved as read.

It was unanimously decided to hold a meeting every Wednesday evening, if the stars are out. Other meetings will be held every Thursday during common hour, unless an assembly is planned.

Gary Mootz made an announcement concerning the new planetarium in Erie needing trainees. Those interested are to see Mr. Balmer.

Choir Elects Officers

The Behrend Campus choir, under the direction of Mr. William Hover, met on Thursday, October 22, and elected officers. They are as follows: president, Jay Krimmel; secretary, Irene Kelly; and business manager, Jim Higgins.

After the election of officers, the group practiced several musical arrangements.

chased a new stereo hi-fi complete with bongos, Al "Capone" Wnuk and his accomplice "Anastasia" Altman had recently elaborately remodeled their penthouse, Rita "Nikita" Panameroff opened her own library, and someone had managed to install a complete selection of Henry "Song Bird" Sproat records in the new lounge jukebox.

The remaining of the motley crew, "Shady" Johnson, Gay "Why not with our money?" Vierya, "Cuddles" Baldwin, and "Millcreek" Steiner have been using their allotments of the money to further their educations by bribing teachers, just as if these four didn't have enough beauty to bribe the teachers with already.

Mr. Kochel has announced that arraignments for all Council members should be forthcoming soon—OR THE NITTANY CUB WILL BE LOOKING FOR A NEW EDITORIAL STAFF!
